INDONESIANS SACK INDIAN EMBASSY

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—A mob of 4,000 Indonesians shouting support for Pakistan today sacked the Indian embassy and plastered the Indian library centre with signs proclaiming the building Indonesian property.

Shrieking members of the official Indonesian Youth Front ripped down, trampled and burned the Indian flag, then raised an Indonesian flag in its place.

The mob stormed into the embassy proper and destroyed every window, book, document and piece of furniture in sight.

NEGRO PUPILS 'CRASH' WHITE SCHOOL

BOSTON (UPI)—Negro children staged an "exodus" from their own schools today and grabbed empty seats in a predominantly white school.

About 400 children showed up at a civil rights headquarters on the opening day of public schools for transportation in donated buses, cars, and station wagons to white schools.

The children, under the guidance of parents and Negro leaders, were protesting alleged racial imbalance and overcrowding in schools in Negro sections of Boston.

NATO Must Alter Military Setup

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle served notice today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must drop its integrated military command structure by 1969.

De Gaulle also told a press conference that France would halt its boycott of the European Common Market if a common farm policy is adopted.

He labelled groundless any speculation that France might act as a mediator in the Viet Nam conflict, but vaguely promised that she might be disposed to help if, at some future time, sound possibilities for settlement might arise.

As to his presidential candidacy in the Dec. 5 French election, the 74-year-old president said only:

"I promise you that you will certainly know (my intentions) within two months."

He roved over a list of questions posed to him as the conference began in Elysee Palace before more than 1,000 correspondents and officials.

He touched briefly on the French-West German co-operation treaty and declared that relations in many domains remained in "cordial virtuality" but were fruitful in other areas, such as culture and youth.

In discussing the NATO question, de Gaulle said:

"We will remain allies of our allies as long as we judge necessary the solidarity of the Western powers for the defence of Europe, but at the expiration of our (NATO) engagements, that is to say in 1969, will be the end of (France's) subordination to integration."

Broadcasting Probe Report Due Tonight

OTTAWA (CP)—After more than a year of suspense, Canada's broadcasting industry gets the word tonight on how its future is likely to be directed.

The report of the Fowler committee, set up 16 months ago to take a searching look at the whole field of broadcast regulations, was to be made public at 5 p.m. PDT by State Secretary Lamontagne.

75 Tanks Destroyed Says India

By Associated Press

Indian and Pakistani troops fought heavy engagements on two new fronts in northern and southern Pakistan today.

India claimed 75 Pakistani tanks—all American-made—were destroyed in a 24-hour period.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman claimed both drives were stopped cold. But India said its forces were advancing on both fronts. In the Sialkot sector in the north and in the Gadr area 600 miles to the south, in southeast Pakistan where it launched invasions Wednesday.

It was understood the toughest fighting was in the border regions of the north near the West Pakistan city of Kasur and India's city of Ferozepore in Punjab.

An Indian communique, reporting the claim that 114 Pakistani tanks had been destroyed since Sept. 1, spoke in general terms of the battles.

However, the tenor of the Indian defence ministry statement indicated India had gone on the offensive in the Lahore sector, 60 miles south of Sialkot where the first Indian crossings into Pakistan were made Monday.

A Pakistani spokesman in the capital at Rawalpindi reiterated claims made Wednesday that the last Indian soldier had been thrown out of Pakistan in the Lahore sector.

A Pakistani army spokesman said Indian troops then struck into India in the Ferozepore sector, 40 miles south of Lahore, and had driven "a lot of miles" into that northern part of Punjab state. There was no confirmation of this report in New Delhi.

As for the fighting in the Sialkot and Gadr fronts, the Pakistani spokesman said: "The enemy has been effectively checked. The enemy is being fully contained and measures are underway to throw him out from here also."

In the light of today's combat reports in New Delhi, secondary importance was being given to Indian attacks across the international frontier in southern West Pakistan and in northern West Pakistan.

The Indian attacks in these two sectors were aimed respectively at Pakistan's important Arabian seaport of Karachi, which is also Pakistan's largest city, and the Sialkot-Rawalpindi population centre.

PERSONS in "high places" have sought to suppress facts about the Kennedy assassination and following events, Jack Ruby said today when brought into court for a hearing seeking to disqualify Judge Joe B. Brown. Brown was the trial judge when Ruby was convicted and sentenced to death for killing Kennedy's accused killer, Lee Oswald Harvey. Ruby refused to elaborate or name the persons in "high places."

AYUB KHAN
... over lunch

Pakistan Leader Seen First

RAWALPINDI (Reuters)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan discussed the undeclared war between India and Pakistan at a 90-minute working lunch today.

No details of their talks were disclosed and no further meeting was arranged for today. Ayub's spokesman said there may be another meeting Friday morning.

Thant's immediate plans here were not made known, but it was thought he would discuss with his aides Pakistan's first reactions to the UN peace initiative.

The Associated Press quoted informed sources as saying the hostilities could be brought to an end if Thant assures the Pakistan government that the timetable will immediately be laid down to hold free elections in Kashmir.

Thant and the Pakistani leader met over lunch at Ayub's residence as fighting continued on a broad front east of Pakistan's Lahore area where India is making its biggest push on an estimated 50 to 60-mile front.

Ayub welcomed Thant on the steps of his white-walled residence about four miles from the city of Rawalpindi and took him in to lunch.

Also taking part in the talks were Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto and Brian Urquhart, one of Thant's top aides.

Bhutto earlier met with Thant at the adjacent presidential guest house where Thant is staying during his visit here.

Thant left New York Tuesday night after the Security Council instructed him to make every effort to restore peace on the embattled sub-continent.

The secretary-general stopped off at Karachi, then flew on to Rawalpindi.

Pakistan Sets Chou Support

TOKYO (AP)—China's Premier Chou En-lai today condemned "India's massive armed attack on Pakistan" and said it could not have been done without the consent and support of the United States.

Chou again declared China's firm support for Pakistan and warned "the Indian government that it must bear full responsibility for all the consequences arising from its aggression."

Chou, however, stopped short of saying China would provide any form of concrete assistance to Pakistan.

Space Champs Tell World Of Watching Betsy Grow

SPACE CENTRE, Houston (UPI)—Space champions Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad today calmly recounted for the world how they performed "at least part" of every experiment assigned to them and watched the growth of hurricane Betsy despite mechanical problems that almost forced down the Gemini 5 flight.

Conrad proudly reported that they watched Betsy, now aiming toward the Texas-Louisiana gulf coast, develop from a small tropical disturbance off the east shoulder of South America into a storm that cut short their eight-day voyage by one 90-minute orbit.

"Lightning (from thunderstorms) was strong enough to light up the interior of the spacecraft," Conrad said. The craft was more than 100 miles up at the time, southeast of Betsy.

At the news conference which wound up their formal 11-day "debriefing" after the eight-day voyage, the 38-year-old Cooper said the liftoff from Cape Kennedy Aug. 21 was "very smooth ... positive."

"Neither one of us felt there was any doubt" as the Titan-2 rocket and its capsule—109 feet overall—soared into the heavens Cooper said.

"The Gemini launch vehicle is a real Cadillac," he said.

"The entire trajectory was almost as perfect as any trajectory could be."

Conrad reported he was more nervous facing newsmen in the manned spacecraft centre's auditorium than when he was thundering into space.

"I think my heart rate's a lot higher here than it was at liftoff," he said.

FEW POTSHOTS BY LIBERAL BRAIN TRUST

Propaganda Machinery Oiled Up

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Most election activity here went into the backrooms Wednesday as party managers pooled over campaign schedules and geared up their propaganda machines for the period leading to election day Nov. 8.

A few potshots were fired publicly.

Finance Minister Gordon, chairman of the Liberal campaign committee, said the need for strong government is the key issue. This required a majority in the Commons.

Progressive Conservative Leader Diefenbaker replied that strong government was what the Liberals promised before taking office in 1963.

He forecast there will be a strong government but not a Liberal one.

Prime Minister Pearson held a 2½-hour cabinet meeting and later tentatively scheduled a press conference for Friday.

But he told reporters he won't discuss campaign issues until he formally launches his campaign.

That probably won't be until the week starting Sept. 19, he indicated. He is scheduled to speak at a high school convocation at Espanola, Ont., Sept. 17 and to be nominated next.

day in his Algoma East constituency.

Liberal strategists were considering placing heavy reliance on teams of touring cabinet ministers during the campaign.

Mr. Pearson, 68, expects in the beginning to divide his time between campaign speaking across the country and his duties as head of the government here.

The Conservative campaign committee was to meet Saturday to put finishing touches on strategy and work out Mr. Diefenbaker's speaking schedule. The Conservative leader is expected to do extensive whistle-stopping by train from coast to coast.

Meanwhile, Liberal premier Jean Lesage of Quebec said the provincial Liberal federation, which separated from the federal party a year ago, will decide Oct. 8-10 whether to participate.

Among the other opposition parties, the New Democrats were setting their sights on running a full slate of 265 candidates for the first time. They fielded 232 in 1963 and 218 in 1962.

Although election preparation moved into gear Tuesday night, the formal dissolution of Parliament was not completed until about 2:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

At that time the Great Seal was affixed to the proclamation dissolving Parliament which had been signed Tuesday night by Governor-General Vanier at Government House.

It was only a formality but it meant that MPs did not actually end their term in office until Wednesday. The Commons, standing at the time was Liberals 127, Progressive Conservatives 92, New Democrats 13, Creditistes 13, Social Credit 9, Independents 2, vacant 4.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Gold River doesn't offer much excitement, but it was served up in an entertaining way last week when the newly-appointed council held its first meeting. The meeting drew a large audience made up of loggers, construction men and residents. It was all brand new. The meeting was not without its legislative blunders much to the enjoyment of the audience. It even evoked a remark from one in the audience: "Gee, it's just like little theatre."

Times readers will be getting a first-hand look at the fighting in Kashmir sometime during the next few weeks. Prowling Vancouver Airport last Friday I spotted Weekend Magazine staffer Pat Nagel and photographer Bruce Moss checking passports before catching the flight to Tokyo, Hong Kong and then the fighting front.

Photographers are notoriously late when it comes to catching trains, planes or even buses. Pat wasn't surprised that Mr. Moss was keeping him waiting. What was worrying him was that the photographer had the passports, official passes and all the other documents needed for flitting around the globe.

Mr. Moss arrived 20 minutes before departure time, relaxed and unable to understand his partner's worry. They caught the jet. I spent a dime to watch them depart with just a little envy.

The Toronto Daily Star devoted a full page of pictures and story to 76-year-old Mother Cecilia Mary and her haven for homeless animals in its Sept. 3 issue.

Headlined, The Unshakable Stand of the Nun Who Loves Animals, the story is by Allen Spraggett, the Star's religion editor. It says:

"Roman Catholic Bishop Remi De Roo has been waging his cold war with Mother Cecilia since April, trying to oust her and her six nun helpers from their sanctified zoo.

"Mother Cecilia's battle has made her a heroine in Victoria."

The Leighton Ford crusade is looking for a wife for its choir leader, Irving Chambers.

Dr. Leighton Ford said so at a rehearsal of 700 chorists and 300 ushers in the Memorial Arena last weekend.

"We are hoping to find a wife for him in Victoria," he joked. Dr. Ford said he and Mrs. Ford have been talking about Victoria ever since their first visit here last May.

"We hope that some day we will be able to stay in this beautiful city for good."

He welcomed two distant visitors—Al and Martha Taylor Johnson City, Tennessee—to the arena.

"When we met them at our recent crusade in Johnson City, they said they would follow us here. I never thought they would out—here they are!"

An item earlier stated a Nanaimo pop music group, the Invaders, had placed third in the province-wide battle of the bands last week in Armstrong.

A member of Victoria's swinging set put us on the right track. It was a Victoria group, RPM and the Regents, which took third place, just after performing with other young music-makers at the PNE.

HOME GARDEN

Black Currant Pruned Right After Picking

By JACK BEASTALL

Since apple and pear trees are pruned in February the month is generally alluded to as "pruning time" and the belief is widespread that all fruit pruning is done at that time of year.

In the home garden, where time can be occupied as the owner pleases, there is a certain amount of pruning that can, and should, be done at other times.

The edible black currant, for instance, is pruned as soon as the crop has been picked.

This currant needs lots of young growths for good cropping and is happiest when throwing up new shoots from below soil level every year. Since the majority of the fruit is borne on these new growths, the older wood can be dispensed with.

Pruning consists of cutting out the older wood to soil level, or cutting back older wood to where a strong new growth has started.

But this type of pruning is not suited to red and white currants. These bear fruit on spurs coming from the older wood, and the old wood must be preserved in order to obtain a good crop.

The reds and whites may have the new side growths nipped back to three or four leaves during summer. This encourages these growths to form in fruiting spurs for future production.

In time, bushes will have some very old portions which may be removed if sufficient younger wood is present to carry the crop.

SIDE GROWTHS

The pruning of red and white currants can be briefly stated as the shortening of side growths to about three buds and the complete removal of oldest wood that is no longer well clothed with fruiting spurs.

Fertilizer applications and manure mulches are best left for spring, since it is not wise to force a lot of young shoots in fall, for they cannot become thoroughly ripened before frost. Better to give the bushes a boost when growth starts in spring.

Reds to Field 16 Candidates

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Communist party has announced that it will have 16 candidates in the Nov. 8 federal election.

Five will run in Ontario, four in British Columbia, two each in Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta and one in Manitoba.

In the 1963 federal election the party's 10 candidates all lost their $200 deposits, failing in each case to win half as many votes as the winning candidate.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

Skies were mainly clear over the north coast and the interior of B.C. this morning but cloudiness and extensive layers of smoke persisted over much of the south coast.

A few showers were expected in the eastern interior this afternoon in the wake of a weak system that crossed that area Wednesday night. Cloudiness over the south coast will clear partially this afternoon and again Friday afternoon while an extensive area of high pressure remains offshore. Rising pressures in the interior of the province will produce mainly sunny skies in that area Friday.

of striking at armor have been built up behind the lines.

Since even before the time of Christ, invading armies have fought and struggled in this area. Alexander the Great and his Greek armies marched into India by this route, as did the Mogul armies who followed him. LACK OF INFORMATION

Neither India nor Pakistan would give any precise information on where their armies were fighting.

But trickles of information in the last few days have indicated the Pakistan Air Force and paratroops are trying to cut roads, railways and lines of communications deep inside India's Punjab State, behind today's battleground.

This apparently is aimed at sealing off the area and preventing Indian reinforcements from reaching the area.

Radio Pakistan said Indian Air Force planes made drops twice during the night around Karachi. A Pakistani government spokesman said the Indians also dropped troops Wednesday night in the Sargodha area of West Pakistan, 174 miles southwest of Rawalpindi.

A Pakistani government spokesman said Indian paratroops landed Wednesday night in a Rawalpindi suburb and some were captured.

(Reuters news agency said a Pakistan spokesman today modified earlier official statements that a number of paratroops had been dropped by Indian planes in various parts of Pakistan.

(The spokesman said in fact a number of "saboteurs" were known to have been dropped. He said most were rounded up with civilian aid.)

India also claimed Pakistani planes carried out bombing raids twice Wednesday night over Pathankot, a city in extreme northwest Punjab—near the new northern front opened by India. Damage was minor.

(Reuters quoted Indian officials in Chandigarh, the capital of Punjab state, as saying 81 Pakistani paratroops were rounded up in the state. A report from West Bengal said Pakistani artillery Wednesday night shelled the town of Gitaldaha in the Cooch Behar district on the border with East Pakistan. The report said Indian troops returned the fire and silenced the Pakistani guns.)

A dispatch from the eastern Indian metropolis of Calcutta said Pakistani paratroops were reported dropped Wednesday night near the new Asansol-Durgapur steel complex in India's West Bengal State. Other Pakistani troops were believed dropped near Durgapur, where a British-developed steel plant is located.

JODHPUR RAIDED

The Indian government radio said Pakistani planes raided Jodhpur twice during the night. Jodhpur is the chief road and railway centre behind the new southern front India opened Wednesday in the direction of Karachi.

The day's greatest victories were claimed for the Indian Air Force.

Indian jets hit one train carrying 23 Pakistani tanks and other vehicles in the Lahore sector and most were destroyed. An Indian spokesman claimed. He admitted that one of India's British-made Hunter jets was knocked down by the Pakistanis.

CITIES BLACKED OUT

All large cities in both Pakistan and India were under the threat of air raids and most were blacked out at night.

Indian Defence Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament India's action "is limited to make Pakistan realize that we will not tolerate any interference" with territorial integrity, including Kashmir.

"He said he did not visualize any Indian action against East Pakistan "at the present moment."

Search Resumed For Hunter

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) —

One of a party of three Burnaby hunters is missing and another survived 46 hours in the bush after their boat capsized as they ran the rapids of the swift McGregor River in remote hunting country east of this central interior city.

A ground-air search will resume today for Peter Van Dongen who ran the rapids in a 12-foot aluminum boat with Davie West while the third member of the party, Clarence McDonald, walked along the shore.

West, a former B.C. Lions football player and now a salesman, was found by a 12-man search party aided by aircraft Wednesday. He said after the boat capsized he and Van Dongen swam a mile downstream in the swift current. He made it to shore but the last he saw of Van Dongen he was still swimming in the swift water.

West said the three set out at noon Monday and after getting ashore West said he wandered around for 46 hours in the bush, apparently never more than a few miles from where he made it to shore.

He is in good condition and was taken to Sinclair Mills, 40 miles east of here, to rest.

Vatican Halts Loaning of Art

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Never again will Vatican art treasures such as Michelangelo's "Pieta" be loaned, shipped or moved from the Vatican, church officials announced today.

The surprise announcement came at a time when the international loaning of great art and historical works — such as the original copy of the Magna Carta now touring the United States from England — was coming into fashion.

To Be Evacuated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is preparing for the evacuation by air of Americans in the Lahore and Dacca areas of Pakistan, officials reported.

Battered Bahamas Begin Clean-Up

NASSAU, The Bahamas (AP) — Bahamas islanders began cleaning up their hurricane-battered chain of resort isles today after an ordeal that included a dramatic rescue at sea.

Sailors of the British frigate Relentless picked up 11 men and three women from two lifeboats that tossed on hurricane Betsy's raging seas for 14 hours. They took to the boats when their small merchant craft sank en route Tuesday from South Calicos to Nassau.

Bahamas officials still were collecting information on damage in the out-islands. They estimated loss would reach $500,000 in Nassau alone.

No deaths were reported. Betsy battered out many homes and business places in Nassau when it knocked out the main power plant.

Hurricane debris littered Bay Street, waterfront shopping lane familiar to all tourists, but little serious damage was done to buildings there or elsewhere in the capital.

On Great Abaco Island there was an unroofed hotel at Treasure Cay, one house smashed flat at Cherokee Sound, settlement and two houses badly damaged at Wilson City.

He said crops on Eleuthera Island were severely damaged.

"It's remarkable how well the land were severely damaged."

Thant Urges China Be Voted Seat in UN

OTTAWA (CP)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant today called for action "as soon as possible" to bring to the 54th Interparliamentary

Union Thant said China's entry into the world organization is required especially if progress is to be made on international disarmament.

His speech, delivered to 600 delegates from 61 national parliaments by UN Undersecretary C. V. Narasimhan, said the UN must build a real world community "consisting of all nations, regardless of size."

"If this should be our goal, it is obvious that we should strive to bring about, as soon as possible, universality of membership of the United Nations."

"Progress in disarmament, whether general or nuclear, can hardly be made while one of the major military powers of the world in terms of conventional weapons, which has recently become a nuclear power in its own right, does not participate in the deliberations on such a serious subject."

CHANGED PLANS
Thant was forced to cancel his Ottawa visit to fly to the Indian subcontinent to try to mediate a conflict between Pakistan and India. However, the text delivered by Narasimhan was entitled an address by the UN Secretary-General.

Without mentioning names, Thant spoke of a "backsliding" in international affairs with increased tensions and "indifference on the part of some" to the United Nations as a peace-maker.

He added that as a public servant he could not "yield to cynicism." Progress in politics was not an uninterrupted process.

That's speech highlighted the second plenary session of the union, being held in Canada for the first time. External Affairs Minister Martin was to address the session later in the day.

Between the speeches delegates continued their general opening debate with less emphasis on Viet Nam than marked Wednesday's first session.

The United States had another opportunity to defend its Viet Nam policy in the face of Wednesday's assault by Communist Bloc delegates, but Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young of Ohio steered clear of this issue.

Instead, his 10-minute speech concentrated entirely of International Co-operation Year and the need to make this "a hard habit to break."

NAMED Canadian High Commissioner to Australia is Arthur Redpath Menzies, the external affairs department announced Wednesday.

RCAF Plane Destroyed, Crew Safe

OTTAWA (CP)—An RCAF Caribou transport plane, working for the United Nations in Kashmir, has been destroyed on the ground by cannon and rocket fire from Pakistani fighters, informants said Wednesday.

The plane was empty and none of the seven-man RCAF crew was injured in the attack Tuesday at Srinagar in the Indian-held part of Kashmir.

Officially, the external affairs department declined to say how the plane was destroyed because it doesn't want to take sides in the India-Pakistan war.

The Caribou, bearing UN markings, was set afire when it was strafed.

Republicans Shouted Down

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A $3.28 billion appropriations bill for the foreign aid program headed for the Senate today carrying a ban on U.S. assistance to nations shipping strategic goods to Communist North Viet Nam.

The House Wednesday night approved the money bill on a 239 to 143 vote after shouting down Republican efforts to deny further U.S. aid to India and Pakistan.

As approved by the House, the measure provides all but $75 million President Johnson asked for another year of foreign aid. The total included $2.1 billion for economic aid and $1.1 billion for military aid to a score of foreign nations.

Full Slate Aim Of NDP; More Money

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP)—The New Democrats hope to run a full slate of candidates in the Nov. 8 federal election, party secretary Terry Grier says.

If 265 candidates are put in the field, it will be the first time the party has managed to contest every seat. It had 232 candidates in the 1963 election and 218 in 1962.

"We're aiming at the full slate," Mr. Grier told an interviewer. "That's our objective."

The party has 60 nominated so far.

The party organization is in good shape and so are finances, he said.

"We've been working on an election plan for better part of a year. We planned for a June election. When it didn't come, we shifted things ahead to November."

HAS MORE MONEY

The party has more money to spend this time than ever before, he said. It would be used a little more carefully and effectively because there has been time to make an analysis of the needs.

Despite the size of the campaign fund, it still cannot compare to the bigger Liberal and Conservative budgets, he said.

Some of the money will go to Dunskey Advertising Ltd. of Montreal, which will help out in the campaign. The party has been using the advertising agency since the first of the year.

As a result of the party's early organizational start, campaign material is available earlier and it will be of better quality. It's more professional, Mr. Grier said.

Dues-paying party membership was up about 20,000 to 70,000 from 1963. This did not include people affiliated through trade unions.

A strategy meeting of the national executive is set for Saturday in Ottawa.

Committed for Trial

CLOVERDALE (CP)—Frederick Myron Turner, 30, of Surrey, has been committed for trial on a charge of capital murder in the shooting June 4 of Marlene Porterfield, 20, of Surrey. Magistrate Harold Keenlyside committed Turner at the conclusion of a four-day preliminary hearing at which 29 witnesses gave evidence.

GOING AHEAD DURING CAMPAIGN

Election Fireworks Seen Over Bi and Bi Hearings

OTTAWA—The royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism is expected to become a major issue in the rough and tough general election campaign.

It could be the focal point of election fireworks. The commission under the joint chairmanship of Davidson Dunton and Andre Laurendeau will go ahead with its public hearings in western Canada, despite the fact they are scheduled to be held during the campaign.

CS Seeks Bargaining Assurances

OTTAWA (CP)—The Civil Service Association of Canada Wednesday asked the leaders of the five political parties for assurance that they will support introduction of collective bargaining legislation after the Nov. 8 general election.

The association, with some 33,000 members across the country, made its request in letters to the leaders.

T. F. Gough, association secretary-treasurer, cited the anxiety with which civil servants have been awaiting bargaining legislation this year. He sought assurance that all leaders would act to bring in such legislation "as quickly as possible after the Nov. 8 general election."

Prime Minister Pearson had assured civil servants such legislation would be introduced this fall. However, the election will affect this timetable. Indications have been that there is agreement by all parties of some form of collective bargaining.

stood the Ottawa hearings will be postponed.

Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker is bitterly opposed to the royal commission and its hearings. He blames its activities for helping split the French and English speaking sections of Canada.

SOME CONCERN

The commission has been giving serious study to whether it should run the risk of proceeding with its western hearings. There was some concern that it might become embroiled in the campaign. However Wednesday a staff member said the hearings were definitely on.

Public hearings will be held in Edmonton on Sept. 17 and 18, in Regina Sept. 20, and Winnipeg Sept. 22 and 23. It will also hold public hearings in Toronto on Oct. 4, 5, 6 and 7 and in Montreal on Oct. 14, 15, 16 and 17.

It was also planned to hold hearing in Ottawa on Nov. 1, 2 and 3. That would be just ahead of voting day. But it is under-

Lesage to Stay Out Of Federal Campaign

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage said Wednesday he will stay out of the federal election campaign and that the calling of the Nov. 8 vote will not interfere with his plans to tour Western Canada beginning September 19.

The premier also told reporters he was "surprised to a certain extent" at the calling of the election, announced Tuesday night by Prime Minister Pearson.

Mr. Lesage had said a week ago he did not expect a federal election would be held this fall. Speaking to reporters, Mr. Lesage said that during his three-week western tour he will answer no questions by newspaper men on politics.

"I will tell them the subject is 'taboo,'" he said.

He would also abstain during the electoral campaign from expressing opinions on the federal parties and on the election race.

"It is a tradition that the premier of Quebec does not concern himself with federal elections. I have no intention of going against this tradition."

Irate Member Hits Action Lack

A member of Victoria city air pollution advisory committee Wednesday demanded to know why city council has not enforced anti-smoke bylaws against offending industries.

In a letter read at city council meeting, Harold Gregson, 474 East Burnside, asked:

"Why is this so? ... 'Should this particular bylaw (air pollution) be violated, why then is not necessary action being taken in this respect? Is there a bylaw for one and another for someone else?'"

He noted that since legislation was passed, measures have been taken to curb heavy smoke effluent.

However, from constant observation throughout these many months there appears no letup in the amount of cinder effluent being still dumped on us."

He referred to "air-borne garbage being dumped on the residents of Victoria," especially in the industrial area.

Mr. Gregson said the smoke inspector could furnish council with all supporting data.

Ald. M. H. Mooney took issue with the suggestion that bylaws are enforced for some and not for others. "Our bylaws are for the people of Victoria and we try to enforce them to the best of our ability," he said.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the committee, suggested the letter be referred for study to the committee, "with great hopes that the situation will be improved upon."

Mayor R. B. Wilson said it is likely that a meeting will be arranged soon with B.C. Forest Products, the source of much fall-out.

Pravda Attacks Izvestia

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Communist Party today attacked the chief government newspaper Izvestia for trying to curb freedom of expression in Russia.

The ruling party defended the right of an author to show the "seamy" side of Soviet life and to make negative characters heroes in books.

The editor of the party newspaper Pravda—Alexei Rumyantsev—said Soviet artists and intellectuals should have freedom to use a variety of form and style and should not be dictated to by bureaucratic government.

Rumyantsev praised controversial poets Yevgeny Yestusenko and Andrei Voznesensky and Alexander Tvardovsky, editor of the liberal magazine "Novy Mir" (New World).

It was the second time this year that Rumyantsev while strongly defending the party's right to control intellectual life—has advocated that artists have more latitude to write as they see fit.

Western observers said the article was another guideline to the post-Khrushchev attitude of moderation toward intellectual freedom in the Soviet Union.

U.K. Refuses Visas

LONDON (AP)—Britain has refused to grant visas to three representatives of the Viet Cong rebels to enable them to speak at meetings organized by the Bertrand Russell Peace Foundation.

AFTER receiving 15 threats against his life during 14 years as mayor of Winnipeg, Stephen Juba is planning to retire. He said he hadn't revealed the threats because he was afraid the publicity would encourage more potential assassins.

The Goal Is Clear

THE SIX PER CENT INCREASE in this year's United Appeal objective, raising it to $439,000, is a recognition of the increasing responsibilities which the Greater Victoria and district community has taken on. The augmented population of the area, the call for greater services to the sick, the aged, the needy, the young—these account for the larger response which now is asked of the public.

It is easy in a prosperous community to believe that everybody enjoys a comfortable life. But only a cursory inquiry below the surface is needed to reveal that Good Samaritans are more necessary today than ever before. The problems of living in a city that continually grows, the added tensions of modern life, the hazards that beset the very young and the very old, the difficulties that today's families experience, are all facets of this common problem. In many cases the individuals or families involved can finance their own assistance. But in many other cases this is not possible. Then, to protect itself as well as the individual, the community must step in and give a helping hand.

The baby without parents or a home, the pre-school child who knows no settled environment, the youngster for whom the Boy Scouts or Boys' Club or "Y" would mean a whole new chance for a good life—all these are the beneficiaries of the United Appeal. The list of 23 member agencies is the only advertisement needed—each name speaks volumes for the work done.

But it takes money—not a lot from the individual donor, nor even a lot in total, when the community's resources are taken into account. The worth of a community may be measured by its recognition of these responsibilities, and the annual gift to the Community Chest is a material way of showing this maturity.

The many volunteer canvassers will do their best, but the success of the campaign can come only from the generous contributors in this area. Let's do the job promptly again this year. A willing giver is a happy one.

Fire In Asia

THE CONFLICT NOW RAGING between India and Pakistan threatens to become one of the most tragic events to rock the Commonwealth in many years. From adamant stands on policy affecting control of the disputed territory of Kashmir, the two neighbors have now moved to military action on land, sea and in the air, and each lethal set-to further inflames national passions and calls for retribution.

The possibilities of the situation spell tragedy for the peoples of both countries, for added to the death and destruction arising from a patriotic struggle there is the ever-present danger of religious clashes between the vast Moslem and Hindu elements of both populations.

Such a prospect is bad enough. But it is only part of the picture, for in war between India and Pakistan, Red China can see nothing but opportunity. Russia has already counseled restraint and caution for both combatants, but Peking has spoken strongly in favor of Pakistan and accused India of aggression. Now, Red China has come out with further accusations against India—that the southern country has intruded across the Sino-Indian border (whose exact location has long been a matter of dispute), and engaged in "unbridled harassing activities".

Such accusations have an ominous sound. They appear to be an attempt to lay the basis for retaliation in the traditional manner of autocratic states looking for an opportunity to invade. With India's limited forces in a full-scale struggle against Pakistan, Red China would have a relatively easier task on the northern frontier.

There is, of course, the deterrent provided by the knowledge that the United States and, no doubt, Britain, would come to the aid of India under such circumstances. Red China's previous warlike adventures on the Indian border brought stern warnings from the West. But with Pakistan also involved, Western aid to India against Red China could also be construed as aid to India against Pakistan, and such further complications could only add to the problem.

The India-Pakistan conflict is obviously something to be brought to a halt as soon as possible. It is to be hoped that the current visit of UN Secretary-General U Thant will result in some form of solution, if only a cease-fire. Every day of fighting makes the task more difficult.

Security Plus

THE NECESSITY FOR THE employment by national governments of secret agencies to spy on other countries is as indisputable as it is deplorable.

However, the case of the Singapore bribe attempt which was recently disclosed by Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew to the intense embarrassment of the United States, has again raised questions as to the function of spy organizations in a democratic country.

The organization involved in the Singapore case was the Central Intelligence Agency of the United States, perhaps the most powerful, secret and autonomous department of government ever known in a democracy. The CIA has undertaken not only to collect information on military and economic activities in foreign countries but in some cases it has also initiated action of a subversive nature designed to overthrow governments or to keep them in power.

It is these latter actions which have been particularly worrisome. The Bay of Pigs operation in Cuba was an outstanding example of a CIA operational fiasco but there have been others, as in Cambodia, which utterly alienated the neutralist government of that country from the west. There was intervention in the Sumatra uprising against the Indonesian government in 1958, the U-2 incident in 1960 and others.

The work of the CIA has been such that the American authors of a recent book, "The Invisible Government," were forced to the conclusion that the agency often holds an independent view on American foreign policy counter to the official policy formulated by the State Department. They also fear that the activities of the CIA and similar agencies can undermine domestic democratic institutions. "There can be no meaningful consent where those who are governed do not know to what they are consenting," they remark.

Following the disaster at the Bay of Pigs President Kennedy ordered new procedures to assure that the CIA would operate within policy laid down by the State Department. But the Singapore incident, where the State Department denied the bribery attempt on information from the CIA, and then was forced to admit it when Prime Minister Yew produced an apology letter from Secretary of State Rusk, indicates that the supervisory procedure has not worked.

Fortunately the CIA's latest gaffe has irritated American legislators to the point where they are now demanding a Congressional investigation with a strong intimation that if the White House and the State Department between them can't keep the CIA in check then stronger measures will be initiated by Congress.

"... But I'm not finished talking through it yet ...!"

Sudan: The Trail of Blood Spreads

By COLIN LEGUM

THE Sudan government is reported to have accepted an offer by Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah to mediate in the deepening conflict between the military forces and the rebels in three southern Sudan provinces.

This agreement reflects the serious view which Prime Minister Mohammed Ahmed Mahjoub's government takes of the situation which has deteriorated steadily since 1955 when, on the eve of the Sudan's independence, the Equatoria army and peasants revolted against "northern rule."

At the heart of the conflict is the heterogeneity of the Sudan's people. The northerners are mainly Arabs and Muslims; they are progressive, well-educated and modern. The southerners, by contrast, are closer to the negroid peoples of the south than to the Arabs in the north. They are mainly Christian or pagan; and they are largely uneducated, isolated and rooted in pastoral traditionalism.

Two Units

Almost a century of British colonial rule served to entrench the separation of these two Sudanese peoples, so that the country developed as two units—the one largely under Islamic influence and the other under Christian influence.

With the approach of independence the southerners demanded a federal constitution to avoid what they feared would be Arab domination. But their federal demands, though accepted in principle by the Khartoum politicians, were never seriously applied. After the 1955 mutiny, which was ruthlessly put down, there was a complete failure to restore confidence between north and south. The lawlessness in the south faced the post-independence politicians with insuperable problems. This inability to deal with it was used as justification for setting up a military regime in 1958.

The militarists, however, failed equally. They succeeded only in making violence more widespread.

The military regime was overthrown last year and the new civilian government gave top priority to the task of regaining the confidence of the southerners. They extended an amnesty to the exiled leaders and held round table talks to find a constitutional settlement.

But these talks failed to achieve their purpose. The result was that violence on a greater scale than ever began to sweep the south. Six weeks ago the government, having lost patience, reverted to the old policy of military repression.

High Toll

It is impossible to discover how many people have died in these six weeks. The death toll, however, has been high. Seventy-two people were killed at a wedding reception; between 60 and 100 were massacred in Juba; 40 were shot in the Upper Nile province. There are scores of army communiqués mentioning the killing of anything from a few to a few score "dissidents."

Some indication of the damage comes from the minister of animal resources, Buti Dhi, who disclosed a few days ago that the value of cattle resources in the south had dropped from $90 million to $9 million. Still the rebels are fighting back hard with modern weapons. Many have come from supplies intended for the Congo rebels fighting on the frontier.

PRAIRIE SURVEY

By JAMES GRAY

Tallest Corn? So What?

THE revolutionary change that has occurred in the life patterns of Western Canada can be summed in in these words: Here it is mid-September almost and not a single prairie city newspaper has carried a picture of the biggest radish or pumpkin of the season! The reason is simple, the urban west has reached the nadir of the slump in home gardening. Nobody is winning neighborhood fame by getting his picture in the paper with a two-pound radish because nobody in the western cities is growing radishes, period.

By and large, the back-yard or "kitchen garden" has been replaced by a yard of solid lawn surrounded by narrow beds of flowers and shrubs. Who wants to grow vegetables when they can be picked up in the freezer at supermarkets and dunked in boiling water, and served? The fact that they taste like warmed-over putty is lost on a generation accustomed to a warmed-over-putty taste in all its meat and vegetables.

The kitchen garden was a casualty of a combination of fashion, laziness and gadgetry. Having a lawn front and back became the accepted norm of suburbia. It was too much work to plant a garden every year at the outbreak of the golf season. And power mowers made grass-cutting easier than cultivating a garden.

Every city newspaper was once equipped with an expert in all matters relating to vegetables. When the parade of readers with big carrots, radishes and tomatoes started he knew a big one when he saw one. And he knew the exact moment when mention of the biggest ear of corn would set-off a city-wide search for a topper. Big vegetable stories were great newspaper promotions.

Throughout the summer the big-vegetable editor could enliven the dog days with stories of the longest couch-grass root, or the longest dandelion root. In Winnipeg, where the top soil goes clear down to China, a three-foot length of dandelion root or a six or seven-foot length of couch-grass was not uncommon.

Record Roots

The extraction of these record roots taught generations of westerners patience and concentration. Extracting even a two-foot dandelion root might take the better part of an hour and the exercise of much finger dexterity. Recovering a four-foot length of couch-grass with half a dozen green ends attached could take longer and would result, incidentally, in a perfect weeding job of the garden.

Today only the small-town weeklies pay much attention to vegetable records. This year has been a good year for bigness. There have been stalks of wheat more than five feet high, puff balls three feet in circumference, carrots two feet long and potatoes allegedly as big as footballs. And sooner or later a 50-pound pumpkin simply has to turn up.

Considering the lamentable decline in plantings, the records being reported compare well even with the halcyon years. And there are signs, here and there, that more and more householders may soon be edging back into kitchen gardens. Here are two authenticated cases to illustrate the point:

Rows and Rows

In the heart of Mount Royal, Calgary's snottiest residential section, a transplanted Nebraska farm-boy-cum-olman turned his whole back-yard into a vegetable garden. He planted rows of potatoes, carrots, beans, peas and beets. He became the sensation of the neighborhood. While half his neighbors came mooching around to revive their boyhood memories of the taste of fresh-picked carrots and peas, the other half became quietly outraged. There was talk of expelling him from the Community Club, until it was discovered the club no longer existed.

In Winnipeg, within a hundred yards of Wellington Crescent, we recently feasted on vine-ripened beefsteak tomatoes fresh from the garden. Our hostess had secreted some tomato plants in among her dahlias along the back fence! She had also erected a permanent wire screen for the sweet peas to climb on and insinuated enough ordinary pea seeds into the planting to give the family a couple of feeds of fresh peas.

If her neighbors have discovered what she is doing, there has been no public outcry.

Letters

Subjective Analyst

The reading of Mr. Douglas Fisher's September 4 column on the postal strike shows the correctness of your paper's policy of placing the notation "NDP MP for Port Arthur" after his name. For this significant fact about Mr. Fisher is quite important in evaluating his reviews. He is by no stretch of the imagination a run-of-the-mill newspaperman endeavouring to interpret the news as objectively as he can but rather a singularly subjective analyst.

The kind of "spitball journalism" indulged in by Mr. Fisher makes one appreciate all the more the practice of having newspaper men on a full-time basis, most of whom at least try to be impartial and to respect the traditional goals of their profession. In Mr. Fisher's case it isn't the moonlighting aspects of the situation that is the worst but the ultra-biased approach that characterizes his work. — Postal Worker.

Park Concerts

I would like, through the courtesy of your newspaper, to offer congratulations and sincere thanks to the members of the Victoria Concert Orchestra and its able conductor, Mr. James Fraser.

Their performances in Beacon Hill Park this summer have been outstanding, offering, as they have, diversified programs catering to all tastes.

It would be wonderful if this Orchestra could continue its work at the McPherson Playhouse on Sunday afternoons during the winter at a nominal cost to patrons who appreciate good music and wish to encourage dedicated local enterprise. — (Mrs.) J. E. H. Witherspoon, 1221 Rockland Avenue.

Language Revision

The weekend magazine issued with the Times several months ago published a suggested alphabet of 43 letters.

Though our written language seems in great need of improvement, it does not seem necessary or desirable to increase the number of letters; even 26 seem too many, because we do not use some of them properly. Each letter should represent one sound only, and each sound we use should be represented by one letter, or one combination of letters, and no other.

Experiments show that this desirable improvement might be made possible by the use of 21 letters only. The smaller number of letters consistently used would not only make the alphabet easier to learn, but also spelling and reading. By so improving the written language, the spoken language would be helped to produce more uniformly-clear pronunciations.

Our language as now used has been built up from many sources, hence its many inconsistencies. Evidently it may soon have to be improved if it is to continue in world-wide use.

Adoption of changes in the language should be made only after approval by a permanent committee of qualified persons who have been carefully selected in each main area where the language is in use. The members of the committee should have deciding powers proportionate to the number of users they represent. — Levander Brown, 146 Medina St.

Conversion

For a number of years it was the proud boast of the Roman church, that Protestant converts were entering it in great numbers. Bishop Sheen was highly praised for his success in bringing big name converts in.

Now it seems the tide has changed and the leakage from Peter's barque is growing greater year by year. Evidence of this came first with the Episcopal church claiming publicly that they are receiving four times as many ex-Catholics as they are losing members.

Then an article in the Jesuit magazine "America" June 12 last, says a wide survey in the Chicago diocese reveals that one out of every four adult Episcopallians is a former Roman Catholic. In one parish the number is as high as 37% according to Fr. Louis Sigman, edited by the faculty of St. Mary of the Lake Catholic Seminary—which admits of no misrepresentation. — Harold V. O'Reilly, 2119 Oak Bay Avenue.

Not the Duster

The flag held aloft by the lady in the picture shows clearly the shield of Canada's coat-of-arms, therefore, her flag is the Canadian Red Ensign. — Harold Groos, 1999 Lansdowne.

Use of French

As a French-Canadian I wish to inform my partners, the Anglo-Canadians, how important French is in the world. About 30 years ago the president of the University of Toronto went for a tour around the world. When he came back his first statement was: "What I have missed the most in my trip was a knowledge of the French language." In Russia, in Asia, in the Orient, in Africa, French is more important than English. In Egypt we can be understood in French by the policemen. Another example, the Shah of Iran who came recently to Ottawa speaks excellent French.

However, I have to say there is no truly bilingual country in the world, and never will be. — A. Marsun, Varennes, Quebec.

'Missing the Vision'

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your "Missing the Vision" editorial, Sept. 4. As you so ably stated provincialism has no place, or should not have, for a moment in this great country of ours. In wondering where the money goes that he is concerned about let Mr. Bennett ask himself if he is prepared to keep up a B.C. sea, land and air force.

In other matters his provincialism has shown itself; to say nothing of his trip to Japan where he played down Canada as a nation to one of the most national-thinking people in the world. I wonder if we will ever find out what they must have thought. — Leonard H. Skelton, 4068 Grange Road.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"IT ONLY COSTS A PENNY TO HEAR US PLAY, AN' FOR TWO PENNIES, WE'LL LEAVE!"

Looking Back

From The Times of Sept. 9, 1890:

Ottawa: The Labor Congress has unanimously passed a resolution seeking the prohibition of Chinese labor in mines by law. The penalty would be a fine of $50 for each offence against all the owners of the mine where the offence occurred. The congress demanded the federal government also enact legislation to prohibit Chinese immigration to Canada "and of preventing the further admission, under any circumstances, of any of this class of emigrants."

Dief Calls It Economics But It's More Politics

By GERALD WARING

OTTAWA—We had a lecture this week from John Diefenbaker, the economist.

Mr. Diefenbaker is not best known as an economist. And, perhaps, rightly so. Because he sounds for all the world like a political lying to make political points with economic observations which, however honestly conceived, just don't make sense.

This is not a falling with Mr. Diefenbaker. Most politicians try to use economic arguments to justify their courses or to belittle their opponents' policies. But the bending of economic fact and law to suit the political needs of the moment is at best misleading, and at worst can be disastrous.

Mr. Diefenbaker's lecture is in his Labor Day Message, and right at the start he praises Canadian workers (i.e., voters) because they "helped to maintain the economic impetus which began in 1961"—when, curiously enough, Mr. Diefenbaker was prime minister.

"Labor Day 1965," he opines, "finds Canada with an economy that is basically sound."

Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith would not agree. In his "The Affluent Society" he pronounces the North American economy basically unsound because it knife-edges between inflation and recession, because its high productivity depends largely upon the artificial creation of new wants, and because private production (cars, TVs, detergents) is seriously out of balance with much lower social production (education, streets, sanitation).

What Mr. Diefenbaker might have said is that Canada is prosperous, which of course is true.

"Inflation reflected in sharp price increases is an increasing danger," Mr. Diefenbaker noted.

Price inflation is caused, the traditional economists say, by purchasing power exceeding the quantity of goods and services, so that prices are bid up. A logical antidote, then, is to reduce purchasing power by increasing taxes—this is fiscal control. Another is to increase the cost of borrowed money so people will be discouraged from borrowing to buy goods and services. This is monetary control.

But what does Mr. Diefenbaker recommend? Tax reductions? "Canada must take action in this regard now," he says, obvious to the fact that tax cuts would increase purchasing power and add to the pressures of inflation.

"Unemployment is still at a high level," Mr. Diefenbaker says in oblique criticism of his political foes, the Liberals. Actually it was only 4.3 per cent of the labor force in July, which is relatively low.

The fact that we have inflationary pressures is an indicator of an approach to productive capacity in the private sector. If the unemployment could be put to work to produce more cars and TVs to meet the increasing demand, they would be. But presumably this must wait on more capital investment.

Perhaps the unemployed could be put to work if governments would increase social production, but that would involve more tax revenues, and the Liberals, election-bent, are politically not in sympathy with the idea that taxes should be increased.

Mr. Diefenbaker sees cause for alarm in a six months' trade deficit with the U.S. of $563 millions. But how much of this was for capital goods to increase production and provide jobs? Until we know that, it would be rash to assume that these imports are damaging to our "basically sound" economy.

AYUB KHAN

David May Get Some Good Licks Against Goliath

By JOHN G. NORRIS

The undeclared Pakistani-Indian war pits a pretty good little man against a flabbier but much bigger opponent.

Pakistan's 230,000-man, eight-division army is outnumbered four to one by India's 870,000-man force of 16 existing divisions and four more in the making.

But the Pakistanis are better trained and equipped, and except for some elite Gurkha and Sikh Indian units their troops are rated, man for man, as better fighters than the Hindus.

Forecasts Risky

Therefore, little David may get in some telling blows against Goliath at the start, although if the war lasts very long most military men believe India's numerical superiority should tip the balance.

Several factors, however, make such forecasts risky. Pakistan is a divided country and East Pakistan is not defensible at present. Indian troops could score an easy victory by moving in on the small forces the Pakistan's president Ayub Khan has stationed there.

Military men here do not look for the ground fighting—still on a small scale—to mushroom into major action, because of each side's limited war stocks.

Threat on North

Another inhibiting element influencing New Delhi war planners is the presence of large Chinese forces along its northern border. Six Indian divisions are believed to be concentrated in the Himalayan area and close to East Pakistan.

Some 150,000 Indian troops are reported deployed in Kashmir to meet threats from either Pakistan or China.

Mixture of Tanks

The ready Indian units include an armored division equipped with old British Sherman tanks, a brigade of Sherman tanks and two light armored regiments some with French AMX-13 tanks, and British armor.

Pakistan has a comparable armored force, but it has some American Pattons, more modern than any of the Indian tanks. In addition to its 230,000-man regular army, Ayub has a 250,000-man militia and a 30,000-man Azad (free) Kashmir force. India's reserves probably total less than 50,000 men.

India has an air force of 28,000 men, 25 squadrons and probably 350 aircraft. They include less than one squadron of Russian MIG-21s, four squadrons of French Mystere IVs and older British Hunters, and four squadrons of B-57 Canberras, plus a variety of

U.S. and Soviet Must 'Team' To Stop Red Chinese in Asia

By CHALMERS M. ROBERTS

The eyes of the world today are riveted on Asia, where the war between India and Pakistan sweeps the American struggle in Viet Nam to one side, at least for a while.

But these wars are only part of the story of Asia. Central to it all is the emerging role of China.

In the 20 years since the end of the Second World War, Europe has reached a degree of stability between East and West, between Democracy and Communism.

To upset that stability, as over Berlin for instance, would be to court nuclear war, which both the United States and the Soviet Union so obviously dread.

Latin America and Africa contain many seeds of danger and more local explosions are likely, indeed probable. But both are far enough remote geographically from the Eurasian heartland to make the containment of explosions a realistic possibility. Such was the case with Cuba and the Congo.

Asia is very different. Of its five largest nations only Japan has moved sufficiently away from both poverty and the population explosion to achieve a degree of stability.

India and Pakistan, imbued with suspicion and religious hatred since partition, are now at each other's throats. Indonesia is held together only by a charismatic leader, with anarchy waiting in the wings. All three have yet to deal effectively with either poverty or population.

But all these problems, even the Kashmir issue between India and Pakistan, might have been containable but for the biggest Asian nation of them all, Communist China.

One does not have to believe in the devil theory of history or take a John Foster Dulles line toward China to see the central role that the Peking government has played, is playing and most likely will play in Asia's troubles.

The two dominant facts about China are, first, the split with the Soviet Union and the Chinese foreign policy related to that split and, second, the entry of China into the world's nuclear club.

The power of the second event is being used to enhance Peking's ability to press its foreign policy line.

Encircling Policy

China has now formally avowed a policy of encircling the Western democracies, above all the United States, by encouraging and supporting revolutions in the less developed areas. China's ability to do so is greatest in Asia and there the effort is most intensive.

The war in Viet Nam is such a revolution in Peking's view. Washington accepts the challenge on the theory that such wars must be shown to be not only too dangerous, as the Russians have contended in their dispute with China, but also unprofitable.

Hence the war in Viet Nam involves far larger stakes than the future of the unhappy people of that land caught in the middle of such a major power struggle.

China draws Indonesia to its breast in hopes of outflanking the Americans in Viet Nam. China sides with Indonesia in hopes of exploiting the falling apart of Malaysia, a nation created in part as a counter Chinese influence.

China humiliated India militarily three years ago in the border war. Then China played upon Pakistan's hostility to India to create a new alignment with the Paks aimed at diminishing American influence in both nations of the subcontinent and at sapping Soviet influence in India as well.

Today French power is gone from Asia and Britain's strength east of Suez is further declining. Japan talks of taking a major role in Asia but shies away from the realities of power. Only the United States and the Soviet Union, of the great powers, remain to stand against China.

Soviet and American aims, in the long term, remain antithetical. Yet as stable powers, as "have" nations in the economic sense, as the major nuclear powers fearful that they may be dragged into wars they do not want, the two nations are being driven toward each other.

Held Back By Fear

In short, neither can afford for its own sake to have the Chinese succeed in surrounding the Western democracies, as Peking would have it. Moscow could end up just as much a vassal of Peking as could Washington, if that ever occurred.

Yet fear and mutual suspicion prevents the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. from acting together as perhaps only they could do in ending the Indo-Pakistan war and backing an independent Kashmir as a way of resolving that conflict.

But to hesitate here may only bring more conflict. And more conflict will only enhance the power of Peking at the expense of both Moscow and Washington.

A Bird's Life Can Depend On Keeping Feathers Preened

By DR. CLIFFORD CARL
Director, Provincial Museum

Birds and mammals spend a great part of their active time foraging for food, and also courting and home building according to the season. But a daily chore for all, no matter what other business is pressing, is grooming of feathers or fur. In fact a goodly portion of the animals' waking hours is devoted to this important task.

Taking care of the outer covering of the body is vital in the original sense of the word because the life of the animal may depend upon it.

The primary purpose of feathers and fur is to keep the animal warm, and the insulating properties of these structures depend upon them being kept in good condition. This involves a regular routine of grooming during which the body covering is cleaned, dried, oiled, dusted, aired, re-arranged, combed and preened; the technique depending upon the particular needs of the animal concerned.

In birds, feather care starts with the nestlings. Even the pin feathers in their early stages of development require regular attention. Each one is formed in a protective sheath which must be removed by the bird before the feather can develop properly.

Then after the feather is fully formed it has to be cared for to keep it in good condition—a chore which the bird takes on automatically and repeats several times a day throughout life.

During the preening each feather is cleaned, straightened and placed back in its proper position in relation to its neighbors.

Almost all feather manipulation is carried out by the bill of the bird, assisted occasionally by the toes of either foot which are used for the hard to get at places. The bill is also used for spreading oil from the gland at the base of the tail—a water repellent substance most necessary in the case of aquatic birds.

Some students claim that the secretion from the tail gland is primarily designed to keep the beak in good condition and that its use as a feather dressing is entirely secondary. Whatever its function it plays an important part in the preening procedure.

Apparently the only feathers that can not be reached by bill or foot are those of the upper breast. Perhaps this is why these feathers are stained or fouled in certain species of birds. For example waxwings, grosbeaks and other fruit eaters sometimes have their bibs colored with berry juice which presumably persists until the birds can have a good wash or until the feathers are molted.

Similarly swans may show rusty breast feathers stained at the water line and grebes, murrelets and other divers may have oil-smeared feathers when they come in contact with this man-made pollutant. In the latter case the birds may die if the fouling of the feathers is enough to destroy their water repellent ability.

In mammals fur care is no less important than feather care in birds. Cleaning is done mostly by the tongue and every part that can be reached by this organ is washed by a series of licking movements.

The feet also help greatly in the cleaning process; in fact in some species such as the beaver certain toes are provided with tiny projections which act as a comb for grooming the fur.

Mammals have an important advantage over birds in that they can use the front limbs to great effect in body care. One has only to watch a mouse or other rodent "wash his face with his hands" to appreciate this fact. With the front paws each whisker is guided through the mouth, the chin is cleaned and the backs of the ears are scrubbed. When all other parts are tended to the tail is gathered up and run through the tongue and tooth routine until it is spotless.

Such cleaning is not just a daily chore; in many creatures it is carried out after every meal, which may mean dozens of times in the case of mice and other species which eat almost constantly during their waking hours.

Its highest development is reached in the primates where fur care is a social function. In most species of monkeys a great part of their leisure time is spent grooming each others fur and during the process each part of the body may be minutely inspected and thoroughly cleaned.

In some family groups certain individuals become favorite hair dressers—perhaps a forerunner of specialization in modern society.

GIVE ME THAT OLD-TIME MAJORITY

We've Heard That Song Before

OTTAWA—Haven't we heard that before somewhere?

Prime Minister Pearson, announcing an election for Nov. 8, said Tuesday night:

"So what I had to decide was whether . . . we could get along with another year or more of the present Parliament, with increasing uncertainty and factionalism because no party has a clear majority in it."

Then prime minister Diefenbaker on Feb. 1, 1958, announcing the election for March 31 that year:

"No honorable member will suggest that a situation in which a government can depend upon the support of only a minority of the members of his House is a satisfactory situation or one that could be expected to continue long."

Mr. Pearson in 1965: "We have policies . . . to continue Canada's exciting economic expansion, to provide for the continued development of our resources . . . but I do not think we can follow any steady course if there are day-to-day uncertainties about the government having a majority in Parliament to get things done."

Mr. Diefenbaker in 1958: "The government cannot possibly hope to carry forward its long-term program of the development of resources and strengthening of the Canadian economy and the building of a bright future for Canadians unless it can be assured of sufficient support in the House of Commons."

Mr. Pearson in 1965: "But it is the government's responsibility . . . to consider whether the time has not come for the electors to decide whether one party should not have a clear mandate to form a majority government."

Mr. Diefenbaker in 1958: "We believe that for effective government the responsibility of carrying on the government of Canada should be fortified by a direct and unquestioned mandate from the people."

In 1958, Mr. Diefenbaker led a minority government with 112 Conservative MPs to 107 Liberals. In 1965, Mr. Pearson led a minority government with 127 Liberals to 92 Conservatives.

In 1958 Mr. Pearson tried to avoid an election by calling on Mr. Diefenbaker to resign so that the Liberals could resume office without an election.

In 1965 Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. Pearson called an election because he was afraid to meet Parliament.

In 1958 Mr. Diefenbaker won a record 208 seats.

In 1965 Mr. Pearson . . .

Canada's Willing Ear Appreciated By Tanzania

DAR ES SALAAM — President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania has praised Canada's willingness to understand the political problems facing young non-aligned countries.

Nyerere was speaking at the presentation of credentials by Canada's new high commissioner to Tanzania, Alan McGill.

He said he is glad "Tanzania's desire to learn from older countries has been matched by Canada's willingness to co-operate with us and help us in our endeavours."

Tanzania not only received capital and technical assistance from Canada, but "always found a ready sympathy and willingness to understand political problems with which a young non-aligned nation like ourselves is so often beset," the president added.

Under an agreement announced here last week, Canada will provide a 50-man training team, aircraft and equipment for a five-year program to help Tanzania set up a military air wing.

Imports Record
Big Jump

OTTAWA (CP)—Imports rose in June this year to $798,600,000, up 16.4 per cent from the June, 1964, total of $686,000,000, the bureau of statistics has reported.

The June imports brought the first half total for this year to $4,074,300,000, an increase of 10.1 per cent over last year's first six months.

The bureau reported earlier that exports in June fell 7.4 per cent from June, 1964, to $737,200,000 and that exports during the first six months of 1965 were up 2.1 per cent at $4,019,200,000.

The report showed imports ran $55,100,000 ahead of exports in Canada's commodity trade during the first six months of this year. Imports in June alone ran $61,400,000 ahead of exports.

The bureau said purchases from the United States climbed 18.9 per cent in June to $563,100,000 from $473,700,000 in June last year, bringing the half-year totals to $2,921,000 this year, up 11.9 per cent from $2,611,300,000 last year.

Sales to the U.S. rose 13.1 per cent in June to $448,000,000 and 12.7 per cent in the six-months period to $2,359,500,000. This meant that the normal import balance with the U.S. was larger in June than a year ago—$115,000,000 versus $77,600,000—and in the six months period rose to $562,400,000 from $518,400,000.

Imports from the United Kingdom fell 5.4 per cent in June to $48,300,000 but were off only 1.6 per cent in the six-months period to $290,700,000. Exports fell 11.9 per cent in the month to $99,300,000 and 2.1 per cent in the half year to $571,200,000, cutting the usual export balance in June to $51,000,000 from $61,700,000 a year ago, and the half-year total to $289,500,000 from $287,500,000.

'MOST IRONIC' Bankrupt
Firm Chief
Honored

EAST RANDOLPH, N.Y. (AP)—Robert Lillenthal, beset with financial woes that plunged his $200,000-a-year seed company into bankruptcy, is faced with what he calls a "most ironic" situation.

The American Institute of Management wants to honor him for "improving the national economy and strengthening our system of individual enterprise."

And Lillenthal, who now draws unemployment benefits and is seeking a job, was invited to go Sept. 30 to New York city to be installed as a member of the institute's president's council "in recognition of his contributions in the field of management."

He was certain the institute was not aware of his financial plight.

This is the second time Lillenthal has been honored since his firm was declared bankrupt June 9.

The National Folding Box Manufacturers' Association presented him with a plaque June 15 for his "vision and merchandising ability" in the 1964 design and packaging of a children's seed kit.

TSE Member
Fined $1,000

TORONTO (CP)—C. M. Williams, a Toronto Stock Exchange member and partner in Doherty Roadhouse and McCaig Bros., has been fined $1,000 by the TSE.

The exchange said the fine arose from Mr. Williams' part in "accommodation trading" which occurred in July, 1964 in the shares of Windfall Oils and Mines Ltd., and which was disclosed during hearings before Mr. Justice Arthur Kelly, a one-man royal commission which investigated Windfall trading.

The exchange announcement also said reprimands had been given the member firms of Breckenridge, McDonald and Co. and Waite, Reid and Co. Ltd. for permitting themselves to become involved in these types of transactions.

WORKERS ACROSS CANADA

Oil Companies Face Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's major oil companies face strike action Friday by 3,500 workers seeking higher wages.

The deadline was set Wednesday by J. R. Duncan, Canadian director of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union (CLC).

Affected would be workers from Saint John, N.B., to Vancouver.

Mr. Duncan charged the oil companies refused to bargain fairly with union leaders.

The union seeks a 40-cent-an-hour increase from the current average wage of $2.75 an hour. The oil companies, including Imperial Oil Ltd., British American Oil Co. Ltd., Shell Canada Ltd., and Texaco Canada Ltd., have offered 10 cents.

Mr. Duncan says his union represents less than 50 per cent of Canadian oil industry workers. Others belong to non-union "worker groups" which Mr. Duncan claims are company-dominated.

He said a chief issue of the current dispute is certification of these unaffiliated workers by the union.

Automation, causing a membership loss of about 10 per cent annually in layoffs, is another issue, Mr. Duncan said.

In a statement, Imperial Oil Ltd. said the union represents workers in only one of its eight Canadian refineries. Of the company's 11,000 employees

By far the cheapest and best fertilizer for your lawn and shrubs is weedfree topsoil. If applied as a top-dressing (one yard for every 600 sq. feet) it will after three yearly applications develop a thick and lasting turf that feels like a soft carpet. That is how good and lasting lawns used to be made in the days not so long ago when we had not yet heard of chemical fertilizers. Topdressed lawns are moreover far less vulnerable to weeds and, most important of all, require less watering. One 50-lb. bag of chemical fertilizer costing $4.00 contains only 8 pounds of plant food. In comparison, you can buy for the same $4.00 2,500 pounds of weedfree topsoil, of which every pound helps to build up a good lawn.

When buying topsoil insist upon soil free of weeds and clay. The cost of dewatering is such that apart from the health hazards involved it does not pay to buy topsoil containing seeds of weeds.

Two inches of weedfree topsoil are also minimum requirements for making a good weedfree new lawn. For best quality topsoil that is free of weeds and clay, contact:

B.C. LABOR MINISTER WARNS

Industry Must Step Up Job Training

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Labor Minister Leslie Peterson today said the National Employment Service has been "the weakest link in our entire manpower problem."

He told a meeting of the British Columbia Natural Resources conference:

"I would be extremely critical... if I did not feel some action was being taken at present to correct the situation."

He said the NES should be geared to know the day-to-day needs of industries, so that future needs could be estimated.

"This would involve a much more extensive use by industry of the NES than has been the case heretofore, as well as a greatly expanded service on the part of the federal government."

The minister said Canada needs a long-term immigration policy, not one aimed only at filling temporary shortages. He said Canada's growing population and improving technology should be considered when laying down a long-term policy for immigration.

Mr. Peterson said he considered job training to be "the best way to meet the manpower challenge."

"The time has come—indeed, it is overdue—when more training must be done within industry," he said.

"The tendency has been to wards inform on-the-job training rather than organized programs of a continuing nature."

He said that where employers have neglected to provide training, any sudden change in machinery or procedures has caused "major upheavals... either through massive layoffs or major manpower readjustments."

Mr. Peterson re-echoed a warning sounded two weeks ago by Premier Bennett, calling for moderation by unions and management if a recession is to be avoided.

"There is no point in taking all of the profits today and none tomorrow," said Mr. Peterson. "Consequently, we must apply restraint and moderation."

FIRST BRAZILIAN CORP.
DIVIDEND IN 3 YEARS

TORONTO (CP)—Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Co. has declared its first dividend since August, 1962.

Directors decided Wednesday to pay a semi-annual dividend of 30 cents on ordinary shares, payable Oct. 15 to shareholders of record Sept. 17.

The $1,000,000,000 corporation, which operates power utilities in Brazil, paid a 25-cent dividend in August, 1962, before it ran into losses because of Brazil's political and economic conditions.

Recently the company has said the situation appears to be improving.

— to protect your health!

That's right! Both your doctor and your plumbing and mechanical contractor are specialists in their own fields, and both of them are primarily interested in safeguarding your health and comfort. Few people realize that to become a qualified plumbing and mechanical contractor, a man has to have at least seven years of theoretical education and mechanical training. He has to know and be able to apply the most modern engineering and architectural theory, he has to be as expert with a slide rule as with a wrench, as versatile with isometric drawings as in changing a tap.

Plumbing and mechanical contractors safeguard public health by means of sound, hygienic plumbing which eliminates the dangers of pollution and subsequent illness or epidemics.

If you put off calling a doctor until your condition is serious, you unnecessarily endanger your health and incur extra expense. Similarly, by delaying a call to your plumbing and mechanical contractor until your plumbing and heating facilities are completely inoperative, you are causing yourself unnecessary health hazards, inconvenience and expense.

Like your doctor, your plumbing and mechanical tradesman or contractor is on call 24 hours a day!

For even greater security and economy, be sure the plumbing and mechanical contractor you call employs fully qualified and skilled tradesmen. Most such tradesmen are members of the United Association of Plumbing and Mechanical Tradesmen, local 324 where membership is limited to those who have successfully completed five years of theoretical and technical education and training.

Fluoridation Opponents Get Rebuttal

Arguments against fluoridation are just old wives' tales, says Dr. H. R. Carter of Victoria.

Dr. Carter spoke to a meeting of the Oak Bay Ratepayers' Association Wednesday night.

Some people think that fluoridation will cause falling out of hair and mottling of the teeth, he said.

"That's ridiculous. None of the horrible consequences the anti-fluoridations predicted has happened."

Fluoride is readily controllable in a water supply, he said. The amount would be one part chemical for every million parts of water.

He said fluoridation of water has been known since 1874 and has been used in some parts of Canada since 1944.

MANY YEARS

There are 4,000,000 Canadians drinking fluoridated water today, he said, and have been doing so for many years.

To the statement made by a ratepayer that fluoride was a waste product of the manufacture of aluminum, he replied: "What if it is?"

"Nearly everything we use," he said, "has waste products in it. The air we breathe is full of waste products."

Dr. Carter said the claim that fluoridation just delays tooth decay has been discredited in clinical tests.

DECEMBER VOTE

The water fluoridation vote will be decided in December at the municipal election.

"If we get a 50 per cent turnout," he said, "the proposal could go through. But a 60 per cent yes vote would be needed."

Services Held For Veteran Of Two Wars

Funeral services were being held in McCall's funeral chapel this afternoon for Harry Sidney Morton, 67, of 653 Craigflower, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Monday.

Mr. Morton, who was 67, served with the Royal Flying Corps in the First World War and with the RCAF in the Second World War.

He lived in Sooke for 35 years before moving to his home on Craigflower in 1961.

Mr. Morton is survived by the widow, Pauline; two sons, Paul and Sidney; and one granddaughter, Theresa Anne, from Seattle.

$35,000 Bequest Hikes Endowment Fund at Gallery

A bequest of $35,000 from the estate of a late Victoria resident, American artist Katherine McEwen, increased the endowment fund of the Greater Victoria Art Gallery to $80,000.

Miss McEwen died in 1957 leaving the money in trust for her sister Alexandrine. The sisters had come to Canada in 1942 after running a dude ranch in Arizona for 24 years.

Early this year Alexandrine died and the money passed to the art gallery according to the terms of the will.

Gallery director Colin Graham said today the gallery's endowment fund which was started 10 years ago, is now well on its way to its $500,000 goal.

The fund contributes to the operation of the gallery.

Fraternity Fined

EDMONTON (CP)—A University of Alberta fraternity was fined $300 and costs last week on a charge of keeping liquor for sale.

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity pleaded guilty to the charge before Magistrate S. V. Legg. Similar charges against three other fraternities and nine university students were withdrawn at the request of the Crown.

22 TUNA FISHERMEN POISONED BY COOK

TOKYO (AP)—A 192-ton Japanese tuna boat was bound for Tahiti with 22 fishermen needing medical treatment and the boat's chief cook under arrest for putting poison in the food, the maritime safety agency reported. The boat radioed that chief cook Hachio Hatakajima, 35, confessed to poisoning the food because chief fisherman Soichiro Wakae reprimanded him.

STUDENTS RATE PROFS IN UBC REVIEW

'Boring... Incoherent... Inadequate... Good'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Science undergraduates registering at the University of British Columbia this fall have been forewarned about the courses and professors they may meet.

A 72-page booklet entitled the black and blue review — prepared on the basis of polling 2,000 students—has been issued by the Science Undergraduate Society.

Students who may have planned to take a certain bacteriology course are told in the booklet the professor's lectures are "inadequate and out of date, as if they had been prepared years ago and dusted off every year."

A geophysics professor's teaching is summed up: "Boring and lethargic."

A chemistry professor is described as "unable to get a point across, unwilling to answer questions, unorganized and incoherent."

But professors who impressed their students are given plenty of praise.

"One of the best profs on the campus in any department," the review says of a mathematics professor. "If you can't make it with him, you haven't got it."

A zoology lecturer is described as dynamic. He makes his students feel an inner effervescence for genetics.

Of 133 professors rated, 33 were described as excellent and 60 as above average.

The review contains some advice to students who want to "exist as anything more than a registration number."

It urges them:

"Corner your professor after a lecture, before he rushes out in a cloud of chalk dust, and take him out for coffee."

"It may surprise you to discover that many professors are human, and not merely an audio portion of a regurgitating note dictation unit."

Mole Resumes Tunnel Grind In 90-Day Trial

By AB KENT

The next 90 days will determine whether Greater Victoria Water District's monster mechanical mole will grind up rock as well as it has been chewing through money for the last 10 months.

The 40-ton machine constructed to bore a five-mile tunnel under part of the Sooke Mountain range for a new capital region water supply has been dogged with breakdowns since last November.

Its operator, Intermountain Construction Ltd., has been feeling the bite of financial difficulties due to time losses and repairs while the machine lay idle.

A request for a 20% upward revision of the contract price went to water board delegates at a meeting Wednesday.

Following a suggestion by Oak Bay representative Reeve Allan Cox, the board decided to freeze the existing contract for up to 90 days.

Meanwhile, with the mole operating reasonably well for the first time, an experimental contract will be arranged, at slightly higher cost per foot of progress.

If the mole works in a satisfactory manner, the old contract would then be resumed, perhaps at a new negotiated price. If it has another major breakdown beyond a specified number of days, the experimental contract would end and the board probably would call tenders on the whole job.

DRAFT CONTRACT

A draft contract will be prepared for approval at the next meeting of the board.

Water commissioner Ronald Upward told members he is opposed to the contractor's application for a higher price per foot.

But he said that for both economic and engineering reasons he favors continuation of the job using the mole.

For instance, he said, a mole-drilled tunnel including concrete lining costs $85 per foot, including the contract price of excavation of $49.50 per foot.

Drilling and blasting with concrete lining costs $130 per foot, and the job is not as sound structurally.

He said it costs about $65 or $70 per foot for the contractor to drill using the mole—a loss of $15-$20—but he can "almost break even" at the drilling and blasting rate of $55.33 per foot.

TWO MONTHS

Mr. Upward said the contractor is now using a new $11,000 cutting bearing on the mole, which may take two months to prove itself. Previous bearings have been of a less durable type, intended for softer rock.

If the rock had been just 10 per cent softer, the other bearings would have been satisfactory, it was estimated.

Delegates were told the company has debts of $405,000, incurred as a result of the contract. Payments from the water district depend on progress made in the tunnel, with 22,000 feet remaining.

No Military Aid From Australia

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Australia will give no military aid to Pakistan or India while they continue fighting, an external affairs ministry spokesman said Wednesday.

He said Australia has also told India its obligations to Pakistan under the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization do not cover the present situation, he said.

Australia will also make no move to mediate in the fighting unless United Nations peace moves fail, the spokesman added.

Buddhist Suicides

BANGKOK (AP) — A Buddhist monk burned himself to death in western Thailand because of dissatisfaction over the condition of the world, Thai newspapers reported Wednesday. The reports said the monk, Rien Orabhakdi, 47, wrapped himself in a kerosene-soaked blanket and burned himself Sunday in Kanchanaburi province, where the famed River Kwai is located.

COMMISSIONS STILL WORK

OTTAWA (CP) — The general election Nov. 8 will have no effect on the work of the 10 provincial commissions handling the redistribution of federal ridings, electoral officials said Wednesday.

Commissions in Ontario and the four western provinces have scheduled a lengthy list of public sittings during the next four weeks. Those in Quebec and the Atlantic provinces have already completed their sittings.

All 10 must file their formal reports to Parliament in January, the latest deadline Jan. 22.

MANNING ADVICE ON MEDICARE

'Look Before Leaping'

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning of Alberta Wednesday night advised Canadians to look before leaping into the federal government's proposed medical care scheme.

The Social Credit premier termed the proposal a "direct challenge to individual liberty and responsibility" and suggested as an alternative a voluntary state-subsidized medical insurance plan similar to one operating in Alberta.

Mr. Manning said he does not question the sincerity of Prime Minister Pearson and his government in advocating the program. "They have been convinced by socialistic advisers such a plan is what the Canadian people need and want. These conclusions are open to serious question."

He said he agrees that high quality comprehensive medical services should be available to every citizen. "My concern over the federal proposal is not, therefore, with its objective, but with the method by which it is proposed to attain that objective."

The plan will not be free—the money will come from taxpayers. Expansion of the national economy will not generate additional revenue required to avoid tax increases because governments already were committed to expenditures beyond their revenues.

Skunks Carry Rabies

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Skunks are becoming prime carriers of rabies, the state health department reported last week. Of 101 rabid animals discovered in the state so far this year, 49 were skunks.

INJUNCTION FOR BUS FIRM

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Supreme Court Wednesday granted an injunction against the Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) prohibiting its members from picketing and nuisance tactics aimed at Canadian Coachways Ltd.

The Dawson Creek company, in an affidavit filed in supreme court, claimed that it lost $30,000 in ticket sales because of harassment by transit union employees. It said on several occasions buses were deliberately slowed to between five and 10 miles an hour in Prince Rupert by placard-bearing cars.

Park Beautification Sought by Victoria

Suggestions for the beautification of Clover Point and Banfield Park will be put to Capital Improvement District Commission at its September meeting by Victoria city representatives.

City council discussed the possibilities informally Wednesday and asked for some firmer suggestions from engineering staff.

Ideas go to the commission as suggestions, not recommendations, since the CIDC is a provincial body governed by the cabinet, although local councils are represented.

Greater Victoria municipalities are mindful of a $145,000 surplus in last year's CIDC budget and the fact that there are no current projects under way.

'Mischief' Alleged

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ernest Andruchow, 35, business agent for the International Union of Operating Engineers (IUOE) was remanded for two weeks when he pleaded guilty to a charge of public mischief. Police said he falsely reported that a car had been stolen by his brother-in-law, who had to be traced to Alberta.

If you read...don't drive

And who isn't reading these days! You have to be well informed on a lot of subjects if you're going to step out ahead of the mob. That's why many people are turning their "home to town" travel time into something more than a study of the bumper ahead or the color of a traffic light. It seems as if no amount of car driving ever improved a mind. Today's bus schedules are fast and convenient. It's especially relaxing between 9 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. So next time you're going to town—take the bus. And take along one of those best-sellers you've been trying to catch up on for months. You'll be a lot brighter when you arrive.

LOOKS AT SPORTS

Libraries are filled with the exploits of talented people who missed success in photo finishes. Time and again they were on the threshold of immortality, poised to accept championship spittoons or handfuls of money when the broadloom was pulled from under them.

Bobby Feller, in his time the best pitcher in baseball, toiled in the vineyard of the Cleveland Indians, a team that knew all about the World Series by reading newspapers.

Geoff Vantreight

But he took longer to get into his plus fours because they were fouling under his loof.

Among another horsepower set, great gobs of luck have engulfed a jockey named Al Smith and an owner, Geoff Vantreight. Most of their fortune on the modified chariot circuit has ranged from seedy to terrible to repelling.

Vantreight and Smith get tremendous mileage out of a daffodil patch in Gordon Head. Their blooms rise to the occasion and are usually first across the finish line in every Easter Derby.

But flitting with fertilizer is not necessarily as racy as snuggling up to an engine. They are a little old for discotheque but they caught the go-go beat a few years ago and haven't been the same since.

Some observers at Western Speedway have said that the alliance has not prospered under Smith's driving. "He is all gung-ho the first 10 laps of a 200 lap race," was the main criticism.

Al's Corns Weigh the Pedal Down

Al Smith is built like a Minnesota farmboy, all gristle and hands the size of Swift hams. When his foot kisses the accelerator, the affect is more trapdoor falling than female faintness.

But the burden of responsibility is hardly Smith's alone. As the noted horseman Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt once said, "there is no horse that can't run faster without a jockey."

There is a striking similarity between the way Smith attacks a track and Vantreight's firm-jawed approach to racing and personal loyalties. Smith is not only his driver; he is also his foreman and from all reports an excellent one. He is one of the "family."

Five years ago Vantreight's passion for the blazing buggies induced him to put up the Daffodil Cup, a saucy saucerpan annually contested each Labor Day weekend.

In 1961 and 1962 the pair were in no danger of winning it. "We didn't have much of a car," Vantreight explains. But they had a lot of car in 1963. Surveying his bulb crop, Vantreight held up a finger in the wind, cut open his satchel and bought Billy Foster's creation.

Smith breezed along in front at 105 laps. Only 45 laps to go before breaking out the bubbly. A 15c part in the transmission expired, jamming the gears.

Bugs In Belfry—And Ignition, Too

In 1954, Smith was leading at the 92nd lap. Up in the stands Vantreight was preparing his victory speech. Seconds later he wore an undertaker's smile. A 5c stove bolt holding the battery cable keeled over, shorting the works.

This year Vantreight pulled out all the plugs, so to speak. New engine. Brought in a mechanical genius, Levi Jones from Washington, at 125 skins a week and expenses.

So what happened? Well Feller and all those starving jockeys, and guys in honky-tonks broke out black armbands for two new members to the club.

The transistor ignition—"practically foolproof" says Vantreight—turned foul on the 62nd lap. No juice. No go-go.

Before the race as crews fretted over a balky oil gauge, horticulturalist Vantreight—who is at fault with bugs, mechanical and biological, was struck by a fanciful premonition.

"Maybe," Geoff Vantreight said wryly, "we should christen this car 'The Nematode Special.'"

Soccer Season Opens With Cup Matches

Soccer, which never really seems to go into hibernation, emerges into public view Saturday.

Eight first division clubs and five of six second division teams have entered the McGavin Cup knockout competition. Proceeds go to Victoria and District Soccer League's injured player fund.

Navy and Brodies open the competition at Royal Athletic Park at 2 p.m.

Eight other teams begin play Sunday.

Luckies test second division Sydney at Royal Athletic. Victoria West meets second division Wanderers at Heywood Avenue; Canadian Scottish takes on second division Victoria West at Topaz, and Gorge battles second division Esquimalt at Bullen.

Second division Victoria Mustangs and Hourigans drew byes and will see their first action in the quarter-finals.

IF NOTHING ELSE THEY WILL GALLOP

Victoria Haida Chiefs will be a running team in the Inter-city Basketball League this year . . . starting tonight.

Coach Howard Tooby plans to have veterans and ambitious tyros (the welcome sign is out) running at Victoria High School's cinder track at 6:15 p.m.

Similar health exercises will be held each Tuesday and Thursday through September. Interested parties can contact Tooby at 658-5491.

Twins' Victory Dampens Chisox, Finishes Yanks

By UP International

The Willie Mays Agency, Inc., may be a little late opening for business this fall.

You guessed it. The boss plans to be at the World Series—and not in a box seat.

At the rate Willie is going, his sales agency for ex-ball playing buddies can start painting "closed until after the series" signs any time now.

Wondrous Willie belted his 44th and 45th home runs Wednesday and chased five runs across the plate in pacing San Francisco to a 12-3 romp over Houston Astros and boosting the Giants' National League lead to a ½ game over Los Angeles and Cincinnati.

BRAVES STUMBLE

The Reds deadlocked the idle Dodgers for second place in the wild pennant scramble by thumping New York 11-2. Pittsburgh dropped Milwaukee two games off the pace by trimming the Braves 6-2 and Philadelphia tripped St. Louis 2-1.

Minnesota dealt Chicago's American League pennant hopes a blow by overcoming the White Sox 3-2. Detroit stopped Baltimore 5-0 in the nightcap of their doubleheader after the Orioles had won the opener 2-0. New York shaded Washington 6-5.

Boston whipped Cleveland 5-3 in 10 innings and the California Angels dropped the Kansas City A's 5-3 in 13 innings.

Mays' two roundtrippers boosted his career total to 498—only 13 behind Mel Ott's all-time N.L. record and left him just six shy of his personal season's high of 51 set in 1955.

INTO THE WIND

Willie connected for a three-run shot into the teeth of a strong wind in the second inning off loser Don Nottebart and ripped a two-run shot in the eighth. Willie McCovey followed with his 33rd home run, and that was more than enough support to give Bob Bolin his ninth victory in 14 decisions.

Jim O'Toole won his first game in almost three months and completed his first game since an opening day loss to Milwaukee, as he limited the New York Mets to four hits.

O'Toole's only other triumph came against the Mets June 16. Yankee-haters had cause to rejoice over Minnesota's victory.

New York snapped a seven-game losing streak at the expense of Washington, but the Twins' triumph officially nailed the Yankees' coffin.

SORRY ABOUT THAT!

For the first time in six years and only the fourth time in 19, the proud Yankee pinstripes will be missing from the world series.

It is the earliest a Yankee team has been eliminated from contention since 1944.

Jimmie Hall belted a two-run homer in the seventh inning to bring Minnesota from behind in their key game with the White Sox. The loss dropped Chicago six games off the pace, and the Sox have only one game left against the Twins.

Each team has 20 games remaining.

Roughies Lose Ron Atchison

REGINA (CP)—Ron Atchison, veteran all-star lineman with Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Football Conference, will be lost to the club for the balance of the season.

Atchison, in his 14th season with Saskatchewan at middle guard and centre, suffered a knee injury here Monday in a game against Edmonton, which the Eskimos won 24-22.

Medical examination Wednesday disclosed that Atchison would have to undergo surgery immediately.

"You just don't replace guys like Atchison," said coach Eagle Keys, who already has four or five others on the injured list.

SIGNED to manage New York Yankees for another season was Johnny Keane. He received a one-year contract Wednesday at same terms as this year, about $40,000.

WHO'S FOURTH UNDER THE BLANKET?

Pity the punter who bet a bundle on the fourth horse in this whistler finish at Atlantic City. Down to the wire this quartet came. The eye-in-the-sky showed Armagnac, No. 4, Dan French aboard, had the longest whiskers. Cape Ann, No. 6, was second, Hobo Queen, No. 10, was third, and Distinct, No. 9, was fourth. Winner paid a handsome $19.20. (AP Wirephoto.)

ACCELERATED RATE

City Converting Estate to Cash

Assets of the McPherson bequest to Victoria and University of Victoria are being liquidated at an accelerated rate, Mayor R. B. Wilson said Wednesday.

"The city's share will be in cash long before the estate comes due," he said.

Latest figures show the value to Victoria to be $2,750,000, against which there is authorized $750,000 in borrowing.

Due date for the estate to become property of the city and university is December, 1967.

Viet Nam War 'Hot' Topic At Teach-In

TORONTO (CP) — Viet Cong and South Vietnamese political representatives will get a chance to argue in Toronto next month about the war in Viet Nam.

A debate will be part of a three-day teach-in Oct. 8 sponsored by the universities of Toronto and York on the attitudes of the great powers—the United States, China and the Soviet Union—towards national movements in the poorer countries.

While audiences at 20 Canadian and 150 United States campuses listen in by telephone hook-ups, a representative of Saigon's foreign minister Tran Van Do will argue with Dinh Ba Thi of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Invitations sent to China and the United States have not been answered yet.

However, Phuong Margain, secretary-general of the cabinet of Cambodia, has agreed to represent the position of non-aligned countries and Patrick Gordon Walker, former British foreign secretary, will be chairman.

Charles Hanly, a lecturer in philosophy at the University of Toronto and chairman of the teach-in committee, said Tuesday major political and intellectual figures from Latin America, Africa and the three great powers are expected to take part in five sessions.

Viet Voyage Scares Seamen

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Fear caused 16 crewmen of the Greek freighter Marilena P. to refuse to carry military cargo to Viet Nam, the ship's agents said Tuesday.

"They just didn't want to get shot at," said Jack Davies, operating manager of the International Shipping Co., of Seattle, who said he had talked to the men.

The Greek seamen balked last week at taking a load of small tanks, artillery, tires and emergency provisions to Saigon.

The small amount that had been put aboard was removed on order of army headquarters in Washington, D.C. The American freighter Mormacregel arrived here Monday to make the voyage. Loading was expected to take several more days.

MINT BEGINS CHURCHILL PRODUCTION

LONDON (AP) — Baroness Spencer-Churchill started a motor at the Royal Mint Wednesday to turn out the first five-shilling piece bearing a portrait of her late husband, Sir Winston Churchill.

The coin, worth 75 cents, is the first one to bear the portrait of a commoner in addition to that of the sovereign.

An uncrowned portrait of the Queen is on one side and the portrait of Sir Winston on the other. The word Churchill appears below his face.

FORMAL SIGNING SET FOR MONDAY

Regional Park Authority Approved by City

Authority for Mayor R. B. Wilson to sign a petition to the provincial cabinet asking for establishment of a regional parks authority was given by Victoria city council Wednesday.

The petition is expected to be signed at a meeting of municipal representatives called for Monday morning by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell.

The second signatory will be Saanich and Oak Bay also was ready to participate in what will Monday morning by Recreation Minister Kiernan. Esquimalt favors the principle of regional parks, but is reported to be awaiting clarification of the petition's terms. The municipality wants assurance that costs for maintenance would not be a charge against local units.

Mayor Wilson told aldermen he is anxious to see the regional parks authority established so that a start can be made to secure undeveloped lands that are in danger of being sold to private developers.

He said the authority will establish a fourth class of parks in B.C.: national parks, provincial parks, municipal parks, and made no allowance for such expenditure this year and would therefore remain out.

UNDERGROUND TESTS.

Same Old N-Treaty Tune

GENEVA (AP) — Russia accused the United States today of blocking agreement on a treaty to ban underground nuclear tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told the 17-nation disarmament conference Western insistence on an inspection system to police such a ban is merely designed "to camouflage the United States real intention — that is to bar any agreement in this field."

Tsarapkin's remarks were directed at a statement made by U.S. delegate William C. Foster at Tuesday's meeting of the conference, when the Soviet delegate revived an old Soviet proposal for an uninspected ban on underground nuclear explosions. Foster rejected the proposal.

Tsarapkin today denounced the U.S., claiming the total number of American underground explosions is well in the hundreds and the blasts serve only one aim—"to perfect new types of nuclear weapons."

"The peoples of the world are well aware of this," Tsarapkin added.

Children Kept Home

ROBERVAL, Que. (CP) — A total of 300 French-speaking school children were kept home from classes by their parents Tuesday in this community 130 miles north of Quebec City. The parents kept the children home because they said the community's Roman Catholic school commission has not given the assurance that the children would be transported home every noon.

VICTORIA native Victor Campbell Moore has been appointed commissioner of the Canadian delegation to the International Commission for supervision and control in Viet Nam. Mr. Moore joined the external affairs department in 1948 and has served in West Germany, Pakistan and his last post, consul at the Canadian Embassy in The Hague. He is married and has two children.

Dominican Chief Talks To Caamano

SANTO DOMINGO (Reuters) President Hector Garcia-Godoy Wednesday gave priority to arranging guarantees of safety for rebel "constitutionalist" soldiers who want to return home.

Tuesday the provisional government's president stepped into the rebel zone for the first time since taking office and attracted a crowd of several hundred who both booed and cheered.

The crowd gathered while Garcia-Godoy held talks with former rebel president Col. Francisco Caamano Deno and rebel military chiefs.

After the meeting, the president spoke to the crowd which had been chanting anti-American slogans and listening to bitter harangues against the United States.

Garcia-Godoy, speaking from a window at rebel headquarters, said he knew they want guarantees to return safely to their homes.

He gave his personal assurance that such guarantees will be made and told the crowd to "stay glued" to their radio and television sets for an announcement.

Butterflies Released In England

BRISTOL, England (CP)—Some 50 monarch butterflies caught in Ontario were set free near this west coast seaport Monday to get more information on the migratory habits of the colorful "king billies."

Frederick Urquhart, associate professor of zoology at the University of Toronto, shipped the butterflies to England to try to discover whether they will alter their navigational instincts to compensate for the geographical shift. Urquhart is a member of a team of North American entomologists which has been studying the monarch's habits for the last 20 years.

John Burton, a member of the BBC's natural history unit who released the insects, said each of them carries a tiny tag glued to the forewing which bears a serial number and other data. Burton hopes persons finding the butterflies—dead or alive—will return them to the BBC unit here.

Zoologists studying the monarch's habit have found definite migratory flight paths from Canada and the northern United States to Florida, southern California and Central America.

Wessin Bribed By U.S. Officials?

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Gen. Elias Wessin y Wessin said Wednesday two U.S. embassy officials told him he would lack for nothing if he agreed to leave the Dominican Republic.

The rebels are trying to get Wessin, who led the armed forces against them when the revolution broke out last April, out of the country. The general told reporters the officials offered to purchase his home for $50,000, and said he could have military attaché jobs in Paris or Madrid. He declined the offer. The U.S. embassy said there would be no immediate comment.

CITY SLICKER OFFICIALS INSPECT GOLD RIVER SITE

Wilderness Pulp Mill Start Toasted

By JOHN MIKA

About 150 city-slickers Wednesday were given an eye-opening view of modern life in the bush as the Tahsis Company Ltd. proudly celebrated official start of its $60 million Gold River pulp plant project.

Cabinet ministers praised the company's venture and helped with the ceremonies at the head of Muchalat Inlet, where Gold River empties, about 50 miles due west of burgeoning Campbell River community.

Business-suited representatives of provincial and civic governments, forestry firms, contracting companies, transportation concerns, nearby Indian reserves, trade unions, commerce and the press mingled with hard-hatted construction workers at the ceremonies.

The guests were flown and bussed in from all parts of Vancouver Island and the lower mainland and for many it was the first visit to the rugged fjord-like area. In the background they saw unspoiled wilderness with eagles soaring over the tall trees, salmon leaping in the salt chuck, mists filling the narrow, deep gorges while bright sunlight bathed the bald mountain peaks nearby.

In the foreground, men guided huge pieces of machinery to fill the site of the 750-

ton capacity mill while others took coffee breaks in functional but bright, clean and pastel-painted commissaries and a large dining room.

Some distance away, the visitors toured the new, planned community of Gold River with its varied one and two-storey modern homes (none appearing to be cast from the exact same mould) being built on crescent-shaped streets for sale to the new residents.

Not a power pole will interfere with the panorama of hills facing each picture window — because Gold River's power and telephone lines will be in underground conduits along with the sewers and water mains that will serve 2,500 persons by next year.

Forests Minister Ray Williston made a bulls-eye drop when he guided a concrete bucket to pour the first cubic yard of cement for the new plant. Hard-hatted workmen and business-suited visitors mingled in the crowd that watched and applauded.

"This is a wonderful day for all interested in development of the west coast of Vancouver Island and also those interested, like myself, in full utilization of our forest resources," he told the onlookers.

"We have people from across Canada and across the seas joining our own people here to build one of the most modern plants in the world here on Muchalat Arm of this rugged coast."

"There are very few that have placed their money on the line and faced the future with such confidence as has this company, and I think this enterprise will prosper."

"I trust that this first ceremonial bucket of concrete will be followed by a steady stream until this plant is producing in 1967 the best quality of pulp available on the markets of the world," Mr. Williston said.

A short time later, and nine miles upstream on the Gold River, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, formally handed over the letters patent to Reeve Bruce Chisholm of the province's second "instant municipality."

"This may be the second such municipality but it still is unique because it is the first in Canada bringing together three concepts at the same time," he told the crowd.

He listed the three as: resources workers living with their families close to their work in the wilderness; governing their own community affairs through a civic council; and having a balanced residential, commercial and industrial tax base at the outset to share the costs of services.

Mr. Campbell, taking advantage of the presence of many high-ranking management representatives from various forest companies and other resource firms, made a strong pitch for more "instant municipalities" in newly-developing areas.

"The provincial government doesn't want to see the bunkhouse philosophy any more in this province," he said.

"Gold River will never be a company town. It will be a self-governing community."

"And I hope it will lead the way for other communities which still are on the drawing boards," he said.

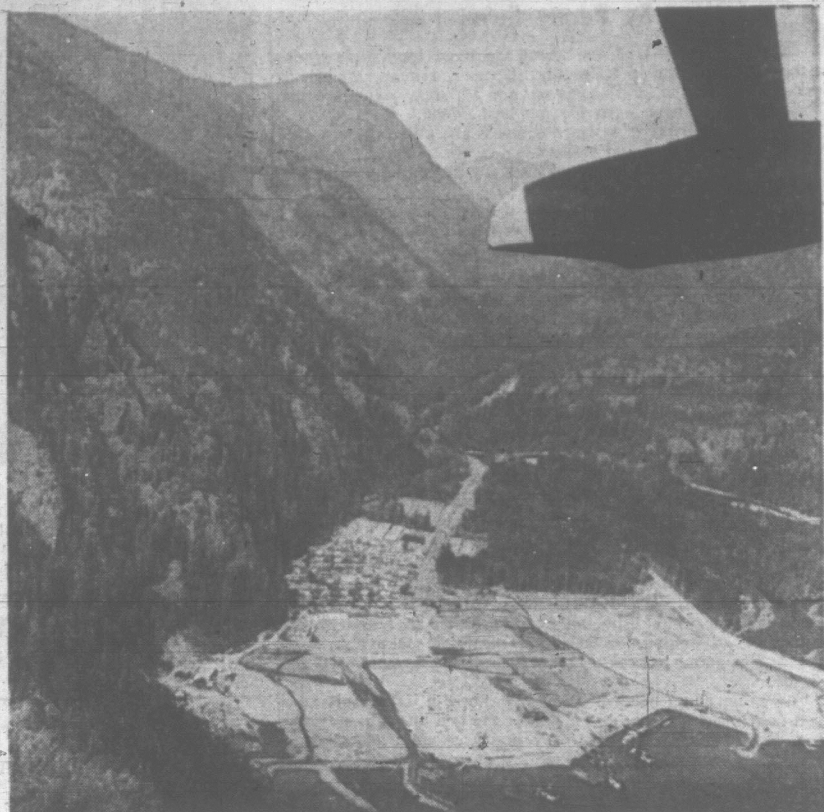

After Mr. Campbell turned over the letters patent to Reeve Chisholm, and received in return an engraved gavel set which was used at the Gold River council's first meeting last week, the guests toured some of the first 44 houses of the new community.

Among the viewers was well-known Liberal M.L.A. Gordon Gibson who was among the first loggers to open up the Muchalat Arm area and helped organize the Tahsis Company before selling his interests.

"When I came here almost 30 years ago, the place was like a duck flat and we were up to our necks in water some of the time," he reminisced. "But I could see this coming then," he said, waving at the new development. "And this is only the beginning. There's a greater future than ever out here for the young man with drive."

The guests departed after a hearty steak-and-salmon meal in the logging camp's dining room and those who flew could look down the long valley towards Campbell River while beneath them a B.C. forest service crew busily worked on a new 60-mile-an-hour public road that will link the two communities.

ARTHUR MAYSE ON VACATION

Topics of the Day

A provincial cabinet order Wednesday fixed Sept. 30 as retirement date for deputy education minister J. F. K. English. His retirement was announced earlier this year but no date was set. Mr. English will continue in government service as a member of the purchasing commission.

Hunters were warned today by a government official that they can't shoot on private property without permission. Fish and Game Branch director James Hatter also warned that shooting towards buildings or livestock also is against the law.

The warnings came early in this year's hunting season which will inaugurate a stiffer provincial code of laws, including a legislative amendment making carelessness a specific violation.

The provincial atlas of natural and human resources will be up-dated to keep pace with rapid changes in B.C., deputy recreation and conservation minister, Dr. David Turner said Wednesday.

The first atlas was issued in 1956 but now is out of print and many of its pages are far behind the provincial advances in energy development, population, mining activity and other facets of the economy.

The revised edition should be ready in about a year, he said.

Scores of Victorians today received letters from B.C. Motor Vehicles Superintendent Ray Hadfield from Baltimore, M.D.

They bore the first day issue of the United States new five-cent stamp illustrated with a red traffic signal light and the message "Stop Traffic Accidents."

A tea to welcome new parents to the district will be held at Sangster Elementary School Friday at 3:15 p.m. by the Sangster Parent-Teacher Association.

It will be open to all parents of school-age children.

The first PTA meeting of the new term will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Sangster School. Special guest speaker will be Mrs. D. M. Stevenson, primary supervisor for Sooke School District.

The average weekly wage in Victoria in March — the latest month available — was $83.93, reports the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Pearkes to Stay For Year at Least

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will stay on in the post for at least one more year.

The extension was announced Wednesday by Prime Minister Pearson in Ottawa, when he revealed Gen. Pearkes had agreed.

The prime minister asked Gen. Pearkes to remain in the office during a luncheon meeting in Government House last month. The lieutenant-governor's term, by custom, was to run out Oct. 11, the fifth anniversary of his appointment.

MORE THAN 150 WATCHED this exchange Wednesday as Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell (left) handed over letters patent for the "instant municipality" of Gold River to Reeve Bruce Chisholm. The reeve handed back an engraved gavel set used at his council's first meeting as a memento for Mr. Campbell's office.

FIRST CONCRETE was poured for the Tahsis Company's new pulp plant on Vancouver Island's west coast by Forests Minister Ray Williston Wednesday. He did better than the last time he performed a ceremony in the area when he swung an axe — and cut a tendon. The new plant will be in production by 1967.

Railways Owe Coal Producers Lower Rates, Says Liberal MP

Canadian railways are failing to live up to their moral responsibilities towards the coal industry MP James Byrne (Lib.—Kootenay East) told delegates attending the 17th Dominion-Provincial Conference on Coal here today.

Mr. Byrne, parliamentary secretary to the minister of labor, said both railways had approached the problem of cheap transportation for coal "with lethargy."

"Railways have a moral responsibility to help the coal industry develop markets and solve transportation problems," he said. "They have a great responsibility to assist the industry which supplied them with cheap fuel for more than 100 years."

Mr. Byrne gave his address prior to the official opening of the two-day conference in the Empress Hotel.

He said that in the United States railways had worked hard and long to find solutions to market and transportation problems.

"They have endeavored to make rolling stock competitive with pipelines and water methods of transportation," he said. "The same, unfortunately, cannot be said in Canada."

Stephen F. Dunn, president of the National Coal Association of the United States, told the conference that coal was making a comeback after years in decline.

He said that modern methods of mining plus reduced transportation costs would see coal mining and sales increase during the next few years.

"In the United States the coal industry has some problems that must be solved — air pollution, water pollution and land reclamation," he said.

Mr. Dunn was quick to stress that coal is still blamed un-

Ask The Times

Q: Can you tell me where the wettest spot in North America is located and is it the wettest in the world? T.R.

A: The wettest known place in the world is in north east India on the Tibetan border. Average annual rainfall is 650 inches. (In 1861, over 900 inches were recorded with 365 inches in one month.)

On the North American continent, the Henderson Lake district near Bamfield on Vancouver Island, is the wettest spot with nearly 300 inches a year.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. fairly when charges of air pollution are made.

"As a matter of fact, no coal at all is burned in Los Angeles, the city which has the worst smog problem in the United States," he said.

"In Washington, D.C., some 400,000 tons of coal a year are burned to heat government buildings, including the White House, the Capitol and the Pentagon without creating air pollution problems in a clean and sparkling city," he added.

He already has an office and staff operating at 2580 Maynard Street in the old St. George's Church hall at Cadboro Bay.

U.S. COMEDIAN PLANS HOME ON PROPERTY AT DEEP COVE

Comedian Jerry Lewis has bought a secluded, 11-acre summer home lot at Deep Cove.

Price of the property, which has a 700-foot waterfront, was not disclosed.

But the deal was clinched by Sidney realtor Gordon Hulme.

Work on clearing the site off Lands End Road will begin this winter and building will probably get under way in the summer.

ENUMERATION CHORE

Busiest Hiring Boss Is Returning Officer

Busiest man in Victoria today probably was federal returning officer Ray Bryant.

He has to hire almost 600 persons within 10 days and arrange for a person-to-person enumeration of more than 53,000 city voters by Sept. 25 for the Nov. 8 national election.

"I had 60 calls yesterday alone and we haven't even set up an office yet," he said this morning.

However, the Victoria returning office will be opened for business Friday noon in the former Mullins Marine salesroom at 845 Yates Street.

"There are 288 polling subdivisions in Victoria riding and we will have to hire a deputy returning officer and a clerk for each one as well as providing a ballot box," he said.

"In addition, we will have to take on a Liberal and a Conservative enumerator for each polling division and map out their work. Under the law, enumeration must commence by Sept. 20 and be completed by Sept. 25."

In a slightly better position is John S. Davies, returning officer for Esquimalt-Saanich riding.

He already has an office and staff operating at 2580 Maynard Street in the old St. George's Church hall at Cadboro Bay.

Meanwhile, Victoria Liberal

Association president Kenneth Cox said that a nominating convention will be held in the War Amps Hall on Oak Bay Avenue either Sept. 20 or 21. His Conservative opposite number D. H. Nelson could not be located for an indication of when the Progressive Conservative meeting would be held.

Merge Parks, Recreation Meeting Told

Municipal parks and recreation services should be combined into one operation, according to many parks and recreation officials meeting in conference at the Empress Hotel.

In Victoria the two departments are separate; in Vancouver they are combined as the Board of Parks and Public Recreation.

Stuart Lefaux, who is superintendent of the combined service, spoke of its advantages during a workshop discussion at the annual conference of the International Northwest Parks Association.

"Consolidation of the two services is now considered an important means of providing better service with the limited funds available," Mr. Lefaux said.

$500 Gone In Cash, Cheques

Police were questioning three suspects this morning in connection with an overnight safecracking.

About $500 in cash and cheques was stolen from a safe in a break-in at Clarke & Cordick feed supply store at 2503 Douglas Street.

Charges had not been laid against the three men at press time.

Police said yeggs apparently dropped into the warehouse of the building through a skylight.

A heavy floor-safes was then moved from the general office, which was unlocked, to the warehouse where it was jimmied open.

About $350 in cash and $150 in cheques were missing from the safe.

The thieves also ransacked the glove compartments of three trucks which were parked in the warehouse but nothing was stolen from them.

Police took the suspects into custody early this morning.

SAME COMPANY

Two years ago safecrackers operating in a similar manner stole about $1,600 from the safe of the same company.

In another break-in reported this morning thieves stole $40 in textbook rental money from a cash box in the office of Mount View Secondary School.

It is believed the thieves entered the school by forcing an outside door. The tin cash box was also pried open.

The school was also broken into about the same time last year and a quantity of money stolen.

Also for the youngsters there will be a merry-go-round and free balloons; for teen-agers a poster competition, and for everyone, a giant bingo.

All entries for competition must be in by 10:30 a.m. Saturday to be eligible.

Janssone on local manoeuvres for the day returns tonight. Also departing Monday are Stettler and Antigonish, due to return Sept. 19.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Use Handy Plastic For Lining Drawers

By Penny Saver

Drawers of any kind are about the most impossible things in the house for me to keep tidy. Dresser, bureau, kitchen or desk—you name the kind of drawer and I'll show you one which I'm ashamed to open even for my best friend.

The worst part of it is, since contents are all so disorganized (string, kitchen knives and erasers can easily be found together), it's almost a superhuman feat to even try to keep the bottom of the drawer clean.

A scrubbing every few months simply isn't enough, and I was reaching the point of desperation when I surveyed them all just the other day.

Now, at last, I think I've found something that will do the trick, at least in keeping the drawers easy to clean. It's a type of plastic sold by the yard, or foot, and just perfect for lining drawers. Coming in gay colors, it has a self-adhesive backing—no need to worry about it slipping around in the drawer. You cut it to fit, then simply stick it on.

Its qualities include being washable, waterproof, and perhaps more important for those drawers in your bureau, it is insect and mildew-proof. The colors include aqua and cream in the quilted plastic, two "grainy wood" effects, yellow and cream-with-gold in the plain. The rolls are 18 inches wide, sell for 79 cents a yard in the plain, $1.49 a yard in the quilted.

At the same store I found a lovely line of British Columbia ceramic ware, which comes in a number of useful shapes and sizes.

In the traditional B.C. dogwood pattern (medium brown background, white flowers and green leaves), there is a large fruit dish selling for $8.95, little knick-knack dishes in round or triangular shapes selling for 98 and 89 cents, respectively. Ashtrays in the same pattern, but on a grey background, sell for 98 cents.

The same items come in another pattern, a lovely soft lime green mottled with white, and a similar mottled effect in a cream color. There is also a line of very pretty ceramic glaze, same price, in a medium brown.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Teen Years Are Important To Development of Body

Studies and research are constantly bringing us new information about how important it is to all of us to eat the right kinds of foods. The cardiovascular diseases are the great killers with coronary heart diseases and strokes leading the way.

For instance, while the evidence is not all conclusive, it is impressive enough to make many of us feel that it is wise to cut down on fat intake and to use more of the vegetable fats and less of the animal fats. A very interesting investigation recently was conducted. This was concerned with the eating habits of more than 2,000 teenagers. The average adolescent was well nourished, but there were many who were not.

It was found that many skipped breakfast and then snacked on candy bars and soft drinks at noon so that the only times they ate well-balanced, adequate meals were in the evenings. The cholesterol blood level was found to be elevated in many of these young subjects and soft regimens were not unusual. These same young folks did not seem to be fond of fresh fruits and vegetables and green salads, but tended to eat the same limited number of items over and over again.

Today, many young people are experiencing heart attacks in their 30's and 40's. Dr. Robert F. Hodges of the University of Iowa suggests that dietary habits during teen years may well contribute to coronary disease during the 30's and 40's.

Teen-age years are such important ones because of the rapidly changing physique and personality. A good diet is so essential for future as well as present, health and beauty. The body is developing rapidly and must have the proper materials with which to build.

This is the time to watch posture carefully. The tendency is to slump because of the fast growth. However, poor posture can be corrected much more easily at this age than it can later on when it is fixed or set.

The girl of today reflects the woman of the future. We can make a pretty accurate guess by observing her habits whether or not she will have a graceful carriage or round shoulders and a double chin, whether or not she will have a lovely complexion or one marred by pimples or malnutrition.

Bride Geraldine Yee Wears Elegant Gown for Wedding

Guipure lace appliques adorned the empire waistline of the elegantly simple gown worn by bride Geraldine Yee when she exchanged vows with Bill Mar receding in St. John's Anglican Church.

Styled with elbow length sleeves, the gown featured a modified A-line skirt falling into a gentle train at the back. Her chapel length veil of hand-rolled tulle misted from a silk faille coronet, highlighted with seed pearls and lace appliques, which encircled the bride's chignon of curls. She carried a crescent bouquet of white gladioli and yellow rosebuds.

Baskets of white and pink gladioli and carnations decorated the church when Canon George Biddle united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chu Ping Yee, 3059 Larkdowne Road, and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mar of Victoria. The bride was given in marriage at the evening ceremony by her father.

A full-length, empire-line gown of peach-toned peau de sole was chosen by maid of honor Miss Carolyn Nip. Bridesmaid Miss Janet Woo, Vancouver, wore a gown of apple green peau de sole styled along similar lines. Their floral headpieces were of matching silk organza with tulle, and they carried crescent bouquets of tangerine carnations and gladioli.

The groom's niece Karen Mar was flower girl in a full-skirted frock of apple green nylon sheer with orange taffeta underskirt. She carried a white basket filled with the same flowers in the senior attendants bouquets. Best man was Gerald Quan, and William Wong and Darryl Mar ushered guests to their pews.

Arrangements of yellow spray chrysanthemums decorated the bridal table for the reception following at the Tally-Ho Travelodge. Yellow roses bordered the three-tier wedding cake. Ian MacDonald proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

For travelling, the new Mrs. Mar donned a three-piece tweed

Way to Accident Victim's Heart—Try Yodelling!

CALGARY (CP)—A car accident and an ability to yodel won a wife for Wilf Carter, a well-known western singer.

"Wilf and I lived in the same apartment building in New York. I'd never met him but we used to hear his practising. Then I was in a car accident and while I was recovering, the building superintendent brought Wilf in to cheer me up.

"Wilf sang one of his songs and yodelled. It was new to me as I hadn't heard cowboy music before—at least not that close up. Anyway, that was that and a short time later we were married."

The Carters, who now live in Winter Park Fla., have travelled across North America. Mrs. Carter, who was a nurse, became her husband's secretary in 1938 to help answer his fan mail.

PROFESSION FACES CRISIS

MONTREAL (CP)—The nursing profession faces increasing competition from other careers for women and must find a new basis for attracting recruits, says Alice Girard, dean of the nursing faculty of the University of Montreal.

"Nursing and teaching used to be the traditional professions for women," Miss Girard told the Professional Society for Graduates in Hospital Administration.

"But with greater emancipation and the unlimited choice of careers open to girls nowadays, nursing is facing crises of competition and identification."

"Today only 10 per cent of the girls who graduate from high school choose nursing as a profession."

DEAR ABBY...

One Mother's Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Everybody feels sorry for the poor service man who gets a Dear John letter. How about the fellows who bring it on themselves by not letting a girl know where she stands? I agree with some of the boys who don't want to get married while they are still in service, but how many of them keep putting it off even when they come home, saying first they want a car, a place to live, money in the bank and a lot of other things? A girl will be an old woman before he marries her with all the things he wants to get first.

I am the mother of a girl who is sitting home, moping around because her "boy friend" is overseas. If he had just let her announce their engagement before he left, I would say she had something to "wait" for. Before he left he "hinted" marriage, but that doesn't mean anything. She writes him every night and she's lucky if she hears from him once in two weeks. It wouldn't surprise me if he brought home a foreign wife.

MOTHER'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: If your daughter wants to wait—that's her privilege. Don't belittle her loyalty, Mother. In some cases, it's all a service man has to come home to.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having a dispute, and we've decided to ask you to settle it for us. My parents are coming to visit us soon and I say a good host and hostess give their guests the best sleeping quarters, even if it means giving up their own bed. My husband says that a host NEVER gives up his own bed no matter what.

HAVING WORDS: DEAR HAVING: Your husband is wrong. It depends entirely on the guest. In this case, out of respect for age (and one's parents), the guests should rate the Number One accommodations.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law complains because my son goes fishing and plays golf every chance he gets. If I were not her mother-in-law, I would say: "If you made the environment more pleasant, your husband would not want to leave the house so much. When he comes home from work tired, he doesn't want to hear complaints about the kids; he doesn't want to see dirty dishes, unmade beds, toys strewn all over, soiled diapers stacked in the bathroom; he doesn't want to see you untidy with a 'pity me' expression on your face; he doesn't want to be asked to do an errand as soon as he sets foot in the house; nor does he want to be asked what he wants for supper—he'd like to smell something appetizing cooking; he'd like for the kids to be in bed early so you and he can have some time alone. Then they'd be up earlier in the morning and so would you, and you'd get more done." Abby, would I be too hard on her by saying those things? Of course, these words will remain unspoken.

MOTHER-IN-LAW: DEAR MOTHER - IN - LAW: Good advice for those who need it—and many do. Yes, let these words remain unspoken. But if your daughter-in-law reads my column, they may not go unread.

DEAR ABBY: As a fellow newspaper gal (just a reporter) I want to say thanks for the plug you gave A.A. It is wonderful to know that you recognize the difference between people who can take a few drinks and stop and those who can't. It's discouraging to have people look at you as though you have two heads when they learn that you are a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. People like you help to remove that misconception. Thanks, too, for pointing out that A.A. has no payroll. The only "pay" we get is the privilege of relieving a lot of human suffering. But if it weren't for somebody helping US, we wouldn't be able to help anyone else. Most A.A. members do more in the course of a year for nothing than a lot of people would do for $10,000.

Parents Undaunted By Latest Additions

KIRKBY, England (UPI)—A woman who surprised medical men when she had 10 children in seven years has now staggered them by producing another set of twins.

That makes 12 children in eight years for 28-year-old Mrs. Mary Brooks, wife of a truck driver. She and the two latest children are progressing well in hospital.

The family is now Ann, 8; Jean, 7; Maria, 6; triplets Anthony, Margaret and Veronica, 5; Vivienne, 4; twins John and Lynne, 2; Mark 15 months—and the new twins.

YOUNG PEOPLE SHOULD BE CAUTIOUS

Marriage Not Romantic Escape—But Reality

JASPER, Alta. (CP)—Improved social education will build stronger marriages and better communities, Mrs. Davie Fulton, Kamloops, B.C., said Wednesday.

Mrs. Fulton is a member of the executive committee of the Vanier Institute of the Family and wife of the former Conservative justice minister.

Hope for building stronger families lies in improved education on marriage in the home and school, Mrs. Fulton told delegates to the 45th annual convention of the Catholic Women's League.

"Much of what young people believe today about marriage is fiction. They need to be informed of the realities and discard the idea it is a romantic escape. The future family can be strengthened by educating youth to approach marriage cautiously."

MORE DEMANDING

She told delegates: "It is essential that marriage be seen as a way of life which requires more of the individual than single living. Choosing the right marriage partner is more closely associated with successful living than any other decision an individual makes."

Mrs. Fulton said the Vanier Institute is concerned with the present high rate of marriage failure and resultant social waste.

"Statistical studies of delinquency, crime, suicide and neuroses show that their failure is closely linked with failure in family living."

"Similarly, those able to establish happy homes are more likely to come from strong, successful families."

LESS VIOLENCE

A recommendation asking the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to reduce the amount of drinking and violence shown on its programs was approved by the league.

Delegates recommended that the CBC show more documentaries and panel discussions on current events; good religious programs and programs showing contributions made by ethnic groups to Canadian society.

Delegates unanimously adopted the recommendations, presented by Mrs. H. T. Donihee of Cornwall, Ont. Mrs.

Donihee is radio, television and films convener.

"Parents should censor their children's viewing just as they oversee any other phase of their upbringing," Mrs. Donihee said.

Mrs. H. A. Leclaire of Swift Current, Sask., suggested: "If we don't like the program let's not buy the product."

Delegates approved a recommendation that parish councils consider giving their financial support to the national centre for radio, TV and films in Toronto to assist in establishing a Canadian religious network.

A resolution urging the formation of clubs to intelligently evaluate films and encourage the production of suitable pictures also was approved.

The Catholic Women's League should increase efforts to find foster and adoptive parents for homeless children, members agreed.

Delegates agreed finding such homes is a continuous problem, especially for Catholic children. A resolution was passed urging CWL provincial councils to inaugurate programs—such as an adoption week—to make citizens aware of the problem.

Another resolution passed said people contemplating marriage should be urged to take a marriage preparation course.

A resolution advocating continued vigilance against "salacious and hate literature" was deleted as members felt it had been covered at previous conventions.

Catherine Toal of London, Ont., was re-elected president of the Catholic Women's League of Canada at its 45th annual convention held in Jasper. Miss Toal has been a member of the league since its inception in the 1920s. (CP Wirephoto.)

Gladioli and Roses In Bridal Bouquet

Pink gladioli and white roses were carried by recent bride Linda Ruth Garraway when she exchanged vows with Keith Douglas Ramsay in a double-ring ceremony in First Baptist Church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace and sheer over taffeta. It was styled with fitted bodice, and scoop neck, with skirt ending in a full train. "Something borrowed" was the bride's veil, belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Neil Christensen, Red Deer, Alta.

Gladioli decorated the church altar for the evening ceremony and satin bows marked guests' pews. Rev. John Watson officiated and organist was J. Tunstall.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Garraway, 2728 Shelbourne Street, and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ramsay, 2034 Ramsay Street.

Bride's attendants, maid of honor Miss Dianne Hewison, and bridesmaid Miss June Williams, chose gowns of aqua and pink, respectively, styled along similar lines with elbow length sleeves and lace overblouses. They wore headpieces of tulle and carried bouquets of carnations.

Best man was Charles Hall, and Wayne Carson and Douglas Davis ushered guests to their pews.

At the reception held in the garden of the bride's parents' home, white sweetheart roses topped the three-tier wedding cake which was flanked by a pair of crystal candelabra. Colton Haggarty proposed the toast to the bride's happiness.

For travelling the new Mrs. Ramsay donned a three-piece suit of teal blue wool, with pink hat, black accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

The newlyweds will honeymoon on the way to Kitimat, where they will make their new home.

Cattle Entries Trail Infants

COBBLE HILL.—Cattle were conspicuous by their absence at the 56th annual fall fair here Wednesday.

There were twice as many entries in one class of the baby show as there were cattle.

Only eight entered the show ring, including a veal calf. President John Balme said the directors would have to decide whether or not to continue cattle classes next year.

Only Ayrshires were entered—and Mr. Balme was the only exhibitor in the main event which did not include beef cattle.

He won all eight classes. Cobble Hill Fair is overshadowed by the Class B Cowichan Exhibition which opens in Duncan Friday.

Mr. Balme said his executive could not afford the prize money to entice farmers to the show.

PRODUCE DISPLAY

However, Cobble Hill was second to none in its display of produce, a first rate horse show and babies.

The fair was officially opened by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan, M.L.A. for Cowichan-Newcastle.

He said many of the small fairs had been dropped from the circuit but Cobble Hill still held an important place in the community calendar.

It gave the people an opportunity to get together on a friendly basis.

Ladysmith Beach Closer

LADYSMITH.—An announcement was to be made this afternoon by Mayor Kathleen Grouhel that Pacific Logging Ltd. has granted the city a lease on 15 acres of Transfer Beach.

Negotiations were concluded Tuesday but signing of the lease was delayed until this afternoon when Pacific Logging president William Sloan was to return to the Island from Vancouver.

The 15-acre lease would supply the public beach access council has been after for the past year.

City clerk John Runciman said this morning slower progress was being made with Canadian Collieries regarding a similar lease of 15 adjoining acres.

He said: "There has not been a ready contact between us, and our solicitor has been trying to set up a meeting."

Crown Zellerbach Ltd. has indicated willingness to trade seven acres on Transfer Beach for 10 acres of city land already leased to them.

NANAIMO.—Jon Corrins, 44, of Harper Road, Lantzville, was given a three-month jail sentence for impaired driving by magistrate Stan Wadill Wednesday.

Corrins, who had pleaded not guilty, announced he would appeal the sentence. He was released on $500 bail. In addition to the jail sentence the magistrate ordered a one-year driving suspension.

TEACH, WRITE AND SPEND TIME WITH FAMILY

NDP's Deputy Leader Quitting Politics

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Doug New Democratic Party, announced Wednesday he is retiring from politics and will not be a candidate in the Nov. 8 federal election.

Mr. Fisher said his withdrawal from politics was prompted by family considerations and has nothing to do with health or party matters.

"My wife and I have a family of boys but I've become a stranger to them," the 46-year-old NDP spokesman said. "I've had to ask myself which comes first—your family or politics. The answer had to be family."

Mr. Fisher said he was "not quite sure" what he would do but indicated a return to high school teaching was likely. In the meantime, he said, he will probably continue a journalism career.

(His column appears in a number of Canadian newspapers, including the Times.)

He also plans to write two books on the Second World War and the history of sports during the next year.

The outspoken Mr. Fisher, who first entered federal politics with an upset victory over Liberal Trade Minister C. D. Howe in 1957, said he informed the Port Arthur NDP executive and party leader T. C. Douglas of his decision a month and a half ago.

He promised his support for the party's candidate in the forthcoming election. The NDP is to select a candidate Sept. 19 at a nominating convention in Nipigon, 90 miles north of here.

In his Wednesday telecast Mr. Fisher said he found politics "personally demanding" but did not rule out the possibility he might run again in future years.

MAY RUN AGAIN

"In future, if family circumstances make it reasonable, I would be proud to serve again," he said.

He also said prime minister Pearson's election announcement Tuesday is "a pity for Port Arthur riding" because if the election followed redistribution the riding would gain an additional seat in the House of Commons.

Mr. Fisher said the government called the election "in simmering anger at its ineffectual performance, after being thoroughly tarred with the brush of corruption."

When the saleslady held up Cameo "Little Nothing" in new Cantreace nylon, I almost laughed. What a funny, crinkly stocking. But when I stretched it on, "Little Nothing" was suddenly made-to-measure. Not a wrinkle or sag. Just fit, fit, fit, with no let-down. (And me, the original baggy-stocking girl.) Soft matte finish. And sheer like crazy. Now I have a complete "Little Nothing" wardrobe. Plainstitch. Mesh. And a wicked nude heel. (The baggy-stocking girl is gone for good.)

Honestly, Cameo, where have you been all my life?

THE GREAT SPY MISSION
Operation Crossbow
Royal Theatre

For those of us who lived through the flying bomb raids on London, this dramatized reconstruction of the period contains some uncomfortable reminders.

Yet from the comfort of a plush seat in the stalls, it is thrilling to watch the demon V-1 missiles being launched in France, chased across the sea by Allied aircraft and shot at by ack-ack guns off England's embattled coast.

The reconstruction is so beautifully done, it seems to take precedence over the rather ludicrous tale of espionage that goes with it.

At the outset, this British-made film drops in at No. 10 Downing Street, where Prime Minister Winston Churchill (Patrick Wymark) asks Supply Minister Duncan Sandys (Richard Johnson) to set up Operation Crossbow.

This is to be an Anglo-American unit assigned to pinpoint and destroy Germany's V-1 and V-2 rocket projects. Sandys' adviser (Trevor Howard) doubts the existence of these rockets and, through a cloud of pipe-smoke, observes:

"Even if they had them, they'd never get the damn things off the ground."

However, since Germany is short of skilled engineers, the British high command decides that secret service agents should be trained to spy on the operation.

American engineer George Peppard and Dutch patriot Tom Courtenay are subsequently dropped into Holland armed with false papers so that they can volunteer for work at a secret underground rocket base.

Courtenay soon runs foul of the Gestapo, but Peppard gets help from an underground contact (Lilli Palmer) and spends an uneasy night with the lovely Sophia Loren while impersonating her dead husband.

From there on the gallant secret service agents thread their way through a maze of plots and counter-plots.

Peppard becomes the trusted aide of the master-mind directing the V-2 program and subsequently shoots it out with the Gestapo and scores of guards with Sten guns.

Then, pursued by hordes of Nazi demons, he gets himself into the control tower where the V-2s are launched, and sends out a signal to Allied airmen who are looking for somewhere to unload their eggs.

It's all very lusty and exciting, but I think the makers of The Great Spy Mission should have stuck by their original title, Operation Crossbow. The latter is far more intriguing and much more appropriate.

SWEEP WINNER
FOR PREMIUMDANDRIDGE
coroner orders tests

WINNIPEG (CP) — Among the first things James Howard Smith of Winnipeg did with his sweepstake winnings was pay $88 he owed in outstanding Manitoba Hospital Services premiums.

And Wednesday he spent another $25 in police court for having been in arrears on the compulsory payments.

Mr. Smith, 58, explained he couldn't make the payments out of his pension and had to wait until he received his Irish Sweepstake winnings of $60,000 which arrived last week.

Carmen Jones Star Found Dead at Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dorothy Dandridge, Negro singer-actress who found her way into show business almost as soon as she could walk, is dead at 41.

Her body was found Wednesday, clad in a light blue nightgown, in the bathroom of her apartment near the Sunset Strip.

The coroner's office said intensive tests will be necessary to determine what ended a career that reached its peak in the title role of Carmen Jones 10 years ago.

More recently, the beautiful performer suffered financial reverses, although she continued to work. But the future appeared brighter. She had just returned from Mexico, where she signed for two films. Filmmakers were to have met her later in the day to prepare costumes for a nightclub engagement.

Homicide Lieut. David Hamilton said no foul play was indicated.

She was slightly ill when she returned Tuesday from Oaxaca, Mex., where Raul Fernandez signed her for two pictures. She planned to leave today to sign an agreement for the nightclub date at New York's Basin Street East.

VISITED DOCTOR

Miss Dandridge visited a doctor Tuesday and was told she had broken a bone in her foot. A temporary cast was to have been fitted Wednesday, but she did not visit the doctor.

Symphony
Grant Hiked
By Council

An increase of $2,500 in this year's Canada Council grant to Victoria Symphony Society means that a total of $10,000 will be made available unconditionally by the Council for the overall operation in the 1965-66 season.

Amount requested by the society was $18,000.

The Canadian Music Centre, an organization for the encouragement of original Canadian composition, has offered Victoria Symphony a sum of $750 toward commissioning of an original work for the 1967 centennial celebration.

Symphony director Otto-Werner Mueller will make recommendations regarding the offer, but points out that at least twice the amount will be needed to meet the usual fee and rehearsal costs.

News of the grant and the Music Centre's offer was made known to Symphony Society executive at a luncheon meeting this week.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

NEW YORK—MGM executives predict that when "Doctor Zhivago" has its world premiere on Dec. 22, it will open with an advance sale of more than $500,000. . . . Barbara Hutton and her exotic prince have been cooling it at the Dolder Grand Hotel in Zurich, but surprisingly she registered as Miss Barbara Hutton and he as "Mr." Doan. Barbara has put on a little weight and looks remarkably well, but she could do with a wardrobe advisor. You don't wear a mink stole at a resort hotel on a warm summer day—if, indeed, you wear one anywhere. . . . Comedian Bob Newhart journeyed to Chicago the other day for an unusual family reunion—a bon voyage party for his sister, a nun, who has been assigned to Bogota.

Somehow the show biz people seem to make their romance seem more interesting, or at least more complicated, than those of the average citizen. Take colorful British lover-boy Peter Flinch and curvy singer Shirley Bassey. They were betrothed, but in an interview with English newsmen on the set of "Flight of the Phoenix" he was reported to have made some statements that irked Shirley no end, as a result of which she broke the engagement and when last heard from was contemplating marrying an Arab chieftain. (Doesn't that sound like the feminine equivalent of dashing off and joining the French Foreign Legion?) . . . The big new dilemma on Broadway: the police are having a terrible job because of the amazing number of female impersonators who have invaded the hordes of midtown streetwalkers. Don't ask me why it's worse for the fellows to swing the pocketbooks than the girls, but the cops are horrified.

Marilyn Monroe's famous 20th Century-Fox dressing room, the one done in what she described as "blonde all over," has been given to Ann-Margret, now starring in "Stagecoach." Miss Two Names, being a stronger type than Marilyn, ordered everything painted and upholstered in hot pinks, shocking purples and violent golds. . . . Don't worry about Federico Fellini slipping in the far-out party scenes. He set quite a pace with "La Dolce Vita," but in his first color movie, "Juliet and the Spirits," the celebrating includes the auctioning of a gorgeous girl. The censors ought to love that one—or are there any censors any more? Doesn't seem so.

Ernest Borgnine and Donna Rancourt, who got married in Mexico, plan to go through another wedding ceremony in California when Ethel Merman's divorce becomes final in October. It's nice to see folks like Ernie being so conventional.

Some of the papers have been popping up with weird items about "young John Garfield Jr." following in his father's footsteps. The only son John Garfield had was named David; his daughter was named Julie after him. He was originally Jules Garfinkle. . . . Doctors here are worried about the increasing numbers of servicemen returning from overseas—from Greece to Viet Nam, you name it—who are hooked on dope. The services don't seem to be aware of the mounting cases of addiction, but it's bound to make headlines.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

What Happens After 1967?

By JACK HUTTON

MEMORANDUM: Prime Minister Lester Pearson, Cabinet colleagues and other assorted members of Parliament.

SUBJECT: Student exchange program known as Centennial Travellers, just finishing its first year.

QUESTION: Are you going to let such a fine program die after Canada celebrates her 100th birthday in 1967 and the Centennial commission no longer exists?

We're doing a lot of planning these days for 1967 (more frantically every day, in fact). Well, I'm one reporter wondering out loud about what's going to follow 1967.

And, although John Fisher's organization is doing many splendid things, I'm chiefly worried about the student exchange program. We can't let it drop. I'd like to see it keep on growing after 1967.

I almost felt like a Centennial Traveller myself this summer. My reporting chores kept me on the move a great deal of the time. And every time I turned around I bumped into people with little blue shoulder bags marked Centennial Traveller.

I heard a group serenading other passengers while we all waited for our baggage in Vancouver's airport. Two weeks ago I joined a group crossing the same traffic intersection in downtown Ottawa. I applauded in early summer when a Quebec student-guitarist held an impromptu concert in Toronto's Union Station.

But perhaps the most unusual meeting came just after Parliament closed for summer recess and Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker launched an immediate campaign, convinced that there would be a fall election.

Barnstorming

It was my job that July day to link up with Mr. Diefenbaker's party and stay at the opposition leader's elbow while he barnstormed the area around Kitchener and Waterloo, Ont.

The agenda called for a mid-afternoon reception at the local golf club with Mrs. Diefenbaker as hostess. Her husband, with this reporter right behind him, dropped in to say hello to some of the guests.

I don't know whether it occurred to Mr. Diefenbaker, but the front of the receiving line looked awfully young to me. And, sure enough, there were the little blue shoulder bags.

A group of Centennial Travellers, all from Manitoba, were touring the area, heard about Mr. Diefenbaker's visit, and had decided to meet him.

The former prime minister spent 10 minutes with his wife's guests, then retired to another room with the 24 travellers and their two chaperones to answer frank and honest questions about Canada's political system for a half hour.

It was an exposure to Canada's electoral system in action that would have eluded probably all of the students if they had stayed home this summer.

This, by the way, isn't meant to be a politically biased account. Mr. Pearson and other party leaders met similar groups this summer. But this is the only one I can recount from personal experience.

Not New

Student exchanges aren't new to Canada. I've mentioned before a friend who shared with me an interest in French during early high school days. The turning point came when he spent a summer with a Quebec family.

We were never on the same level of fluency again, regardless of how hard I studied written French. Today my friend is completely bilingual while I struggle along with fractured French.

What did the 160 groups who toured parts of Canada this summer get out of their travelling? They returned home with memories of the sights, smells, sounds of a part of Canada they might never have seen.

Some had criticisms of things they saw. The point, however, is that they had the chance to bounce ideas off other students that they met. Communication doesn't mean agreeing completely.

That would, in fact, be rather dull. The important thing is the exchange program built friendship bridges that mustn't collapse overnight.

Write MP

What can we do? Or, more important, what can you do? Well, if I had been a Centennial Traveller this summer or one of the many host groups, I'd sit down and write to my local representative in Parliament, telling him what a fine thing it was.

You'd be amazed at the impact of the mailbag on Parliament Hill in Ottawa. Try it and see.

Who should take over the program when the Centennial commission is disbanded? Should it be a government agency? Should it be privately financed? I don't know. All I know is that it shouldn't stop.

And somebody should be planning for that day in 1967 right now.

(Since writing this column I find that Joe Martin, executive director of the Centennial program in Manitoba, shares the same worries. He'd go even farther by including adults in the exchanges. Bravo for you, Mr. Martin!)

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Beth Scott, age 9, of Hurland, Mo., for her question:

Does a beaver wear out his teeth?

Animals do not have the tooth trouble we have. They do not feast on the sweets and the soft drinks that cause our cavities. Instead, they bite, chew, chomp and gnaw tough foods to keep their teeth healthy. If Mr. Beaver gave up gnawing, he soon would have very serious tooth troubles.

The beaver is a busy woodman. He works with another beaver to cut down trees. In 15 minutes this pair of beavers can cut through a woody trunk that is 4 inches thick. Then the lumber is cut into logs and used to make clever dams and canals that keep the streams and ponds from draining dry. Twigs and branches are cut to build a wonderful beaver house under the water. More twigs are cut and saved for winter food.

When all this work is done it is time to start repairs. A busy beaver's chores are never done. A human woodman uses axes and saws to chop down trees and cut his lumber. But the beaver has no ax or saw. A chisel is a sturdy tool with sloping sides and a straight, sharp cutting edge. Mr. Beaver does his woodwork with chisels, and he has four splendid chisels of his very own.

They are his long front teeth—two in his top jaw and two in his bottom jaw. He uses them to gnaw all through the day and sometimes through part of the night. Once in a while he stops his woodworking chores to gnaw a meal of bark from a willow or aspen tree. And all this gnawing wears away the tips of his teeth. But strange to say, his special gnawing-teeth grow no shorter. Chances are, they will last him all his life, which may be almost 20 years.

Must Keep Teeth Short

Your teeth grow to the proper size and then stop growing. But the beaver's gnawing teeth never stop growing. They grow longer from the roots as the tips wear down at the other end. The enamel coating is harder on the front of each tooth. As he gnaws, the back of the tooth wears down faster than the front. This makes a sloping edge, and each gnawing tooth is shaped like a sturdy chisel. And Mr. Beaver must keep on gnawing or those chisel-teeth will grow too long for comfort. The beaver is called a rodent, which means a gnawing animal. Squirrels and woodchucks are also rodents and so are muskrats and gophers. Hamsters and porcupines are rodents and so are rats and mice. There are about 2,000 different rodents in the world. All of them have gnawing teeth. These rodent teeth wear down at the tips, but they never get any shorter because they never stop growing.

Late night motorists will be allowed to park in Beacon Hill Park for unlimited periods—up to midnight—with a resolution passed by city council Wednesday.

Until now it has been unlawful for a driver to park for more than 15 minutes at a time after 10 p.m.

This stringency brought complaint from a Toronto visitor who was offended when told by police he would have to move along during a visit to inspect the illuminated gardens one night in early summer.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said there is little point in having lights in the park if people are not permitted to drive in, park their cars and appreciate the scenery.

After midnight it will be permissible to park for 15-minute periods only.

The mayor said any further difficulty would be a matter for the police to work out.

Girl Almost Drowned
In Car

RICHMOND (CP)—One person was killed in a two-car collision here Wednesday and another almost drowned in water sprayed by a fire hydrant broken in the accident.

Dead is Monty Bunby, 19, of Richmond.

Patricia Bousquet, also of Richmond, almost drowned when water from a fire hydrant began to fill her car. Witnesses held her head above water until she was freed from the wreckage.

The 17-year-old girl is in fair condition in hospital with multiple injuries.

Two other Richmond residents were also injured in the crash.

Wayne Grafton, 16, is described in fairly good condition in hospital where he is being treated for skull and facial injuries.

Daniel Treleaven, 17, is in satisfactory condition with head and shoulder injuries.

Uniform
Backed

QUEBEC (CP)—Some 30 delegates from eight provinces agreed Tuesday on the need for uniformity in provincial pension plans.

The delegates, representing all provincial governments but Manitoba and Prince Edward Island and including observers from the federal government, stated in a communique that there has been considerable progress since their last meeting in January.

Among other things, Ontario had amended its pension legislation on the basis of experience acquired since January and in the light of discussions with other provinces. In addition, the Quebec government had passed a supplementary pension bill with provisions in agreement with the idea of uniformity as accepted by the provinces.

The purpose of uniformity was to assure portability of pensions from one province to another.

A well-known Vancouver surgeon stated in B.C. Supreme Court here Wednesday afternoon that a woman's hip fracture was not detected until she had been in hospital seven weeks.

Dr. Frederick Charles Preston said it was a very unstable type of fracture and he thought it "inexcusable" that it had not been detected for so long.

The woman, Mrs. Daphne Davis, 1721 Richmond, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital on Oct. 23, 1961, after being knocked down by a car. She was in St. Joseph's or the Gorge Road Hospital from then until Dec. 13, 1962, except for a period of 82 days.

Dr. Preston said the hip fracture was not discovered until Dec. 12, 1961.

The doctor was one of three medical experts called by lawyers Allan Mercer and C. O. D. Branson, who are seeking to prove that hospital negligence contributed to Mrs. Davis' plight.

Mrs. Davis is claiming special damages assessed at more than $6,000 and unspecified general damages against Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dearman, 2435 Musgrave Street, Oak Bay.

Mrs. Dearman was driving their car when it struck Mrs. Davis on a crosswalk at Cook and McClure Streets on Oct. 23, 1961.

Her counsel, Lloyd G. McKenzie, QC, said, as a result of the accident, she received extensive injuries and subsequently her right leg had to be amputated below the knee.

He claimed that Mrs. Dearman failed to keep a proper lookout when crossing the intersection, was driving at an excessive speed and failed to apply her brakes in time to avoid striking Mrs. Davis.

The hearing was adjourned until Sept. 16.

Whether visiting motorists should get courtesy tickets for simple vehicle violations will be discussed by Victoria police commission.

The suggestion was made at city council meeting Wednesday by Ald. Geoffrey Edgell as a means of encouraging tourist goodwill.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, chairman of police commission, said the whole question of parking privileges is under consideration.

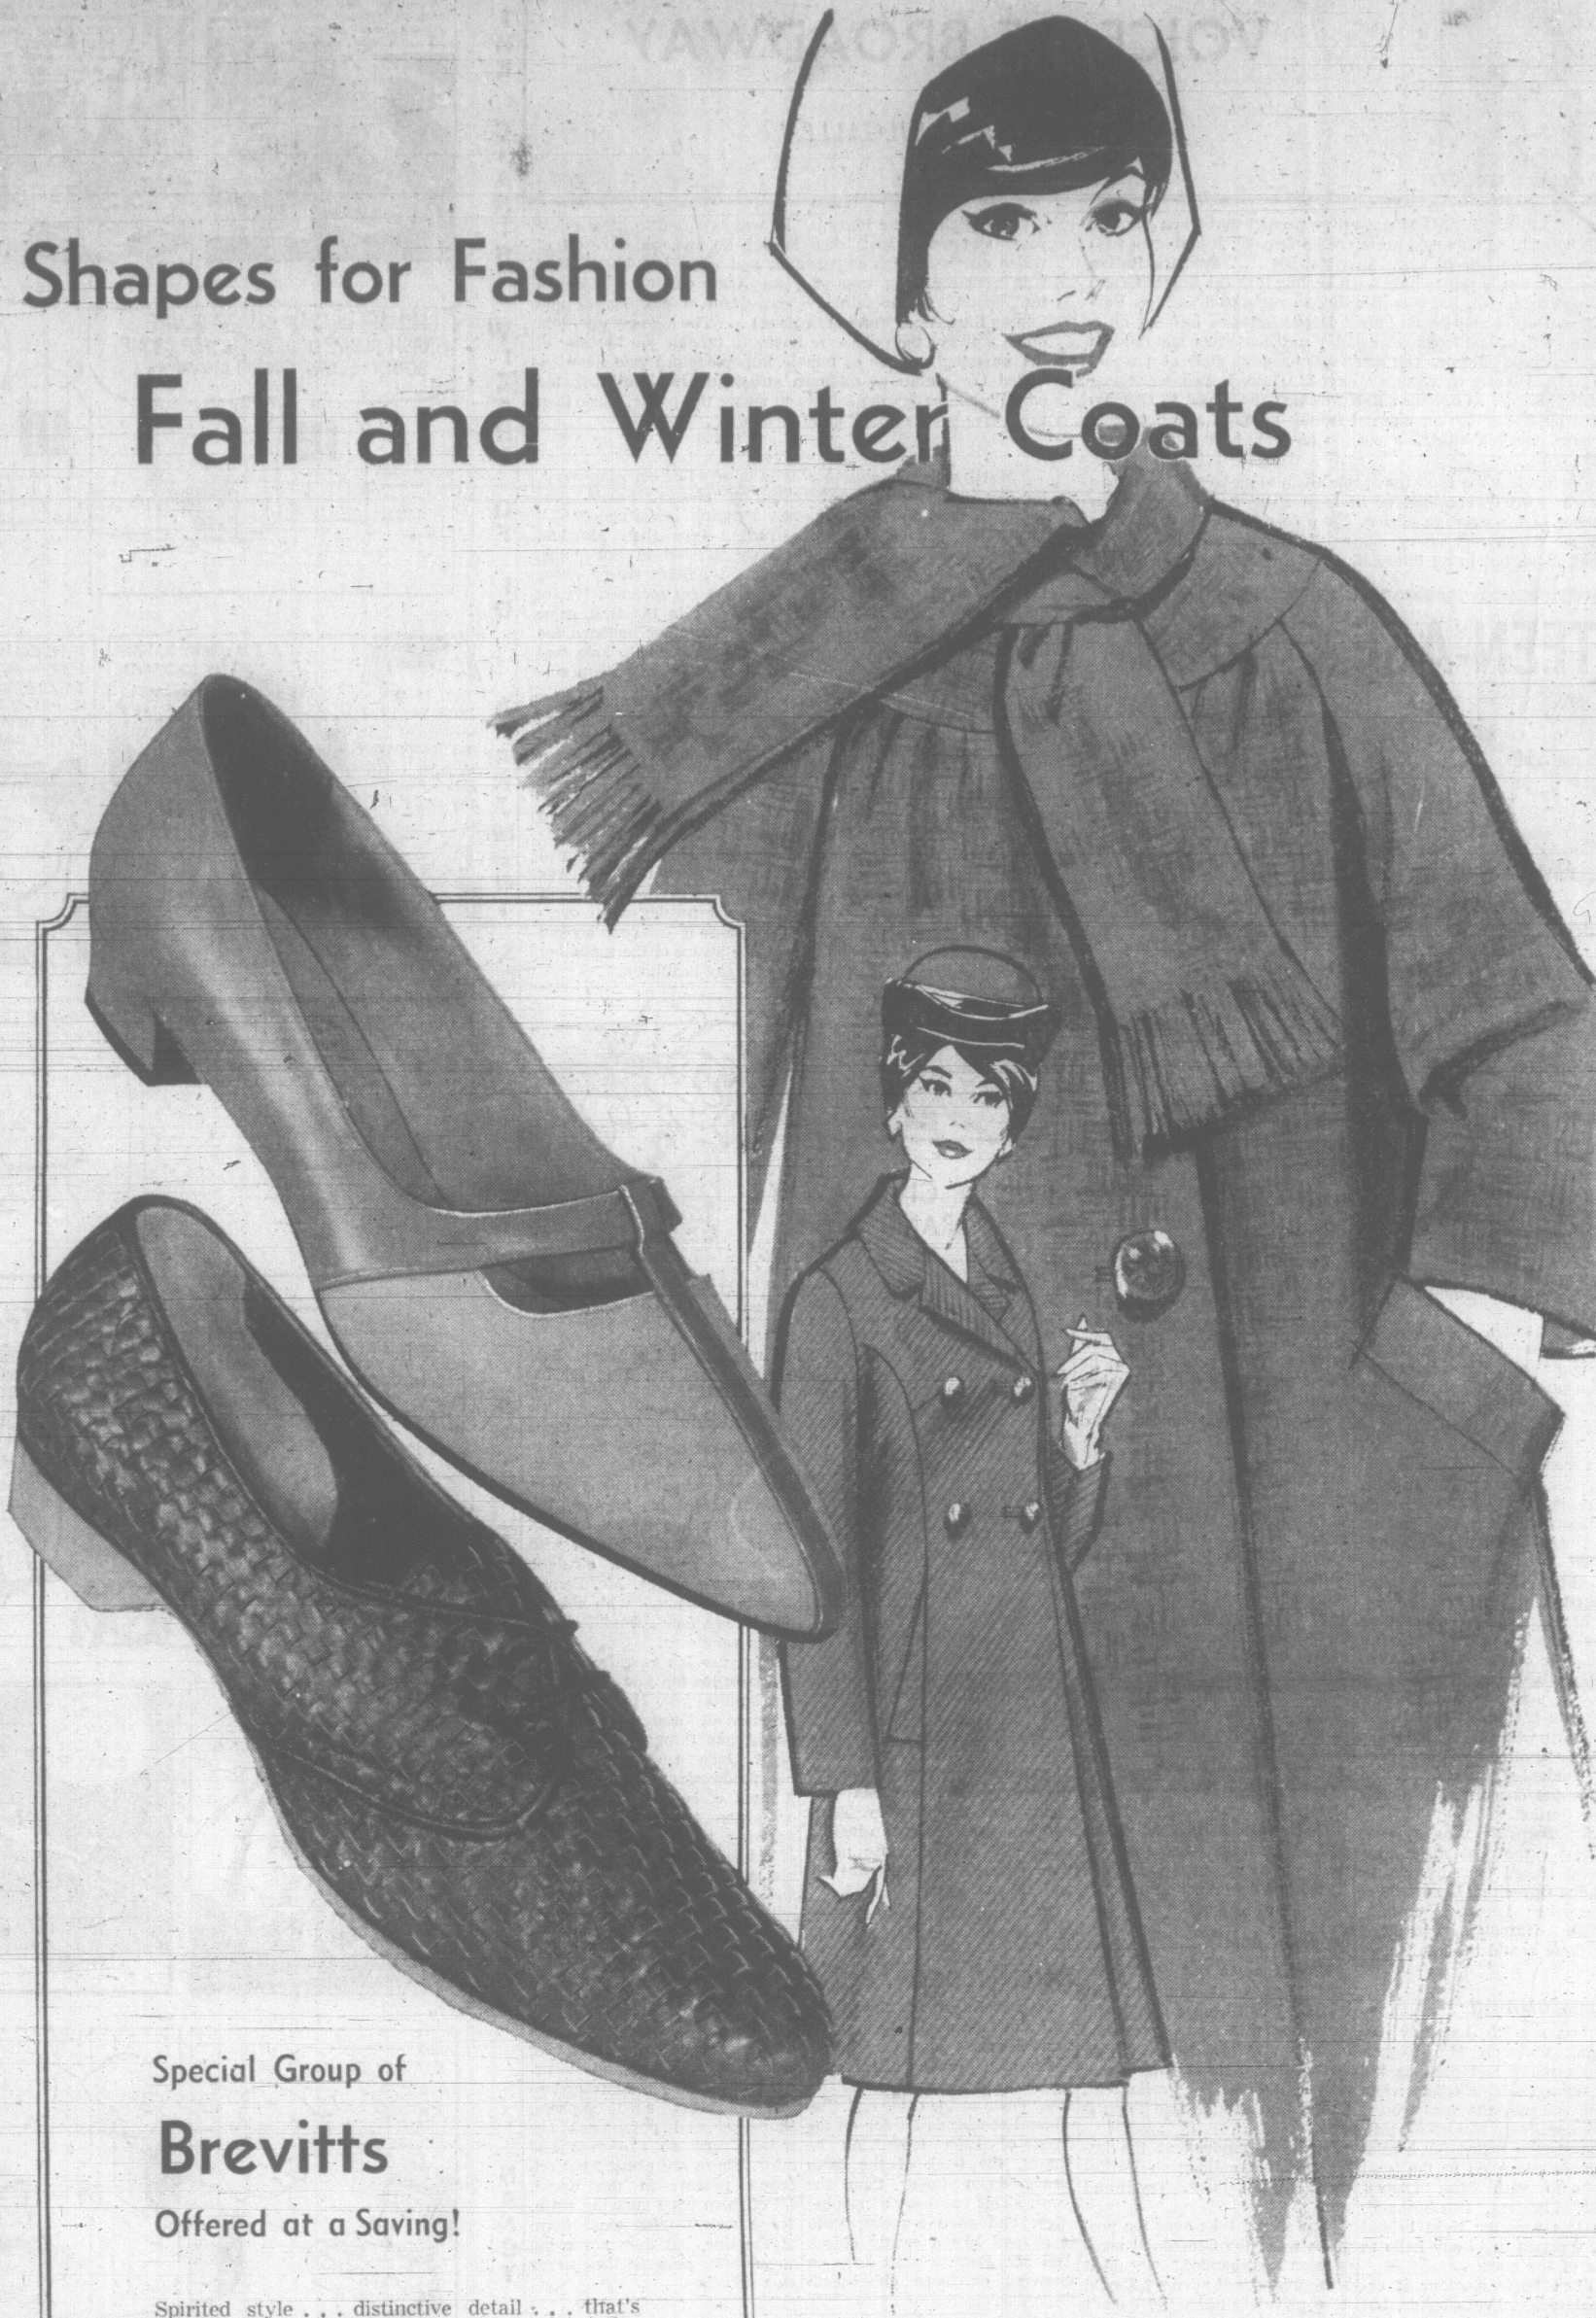

Council felt ordinary meter violations by visitors could be permitted, although it was agreed there should be no exceptions in the rush-hour arteries where tow-aways are enforced.

Striking members of the official Indonesian Youth Front ripped down, trampled and burned the Indian flag, then raised an Indonesian flag in its place.

75 Tanks Destroyed Says India

By Associated Press

Indian and Pakistani troops fought heavy engagements on two new fronts in northern and southern Pakistan today.

India claimed 75 Pakistani tanks—all American-made—were destroyed in a 24-hour period.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman claimed both drives were stopped cold. But India said its forces were advancing on both fronts, in the Sialkot sector in the north and in the Gwadra area 600 miles to the south, in southeast Pakistan where it launched invasions Wednesday.

It was understood the toughest fighting was in the border regions of the north near the West Pakistan city of Kashmir and India's city of Ferozepore in Punjab.

An Indian communique, reporting the claim that 114 Pakistani tanks had been destroyed since Sept. 1, spoke in general terms of the battles.

However, the tenor of the Indian defence ministry statement indicated India had gone on the defensive in the Lahore sector, 60 miles south of Sialkot where the first Indian crossings into Pakistan were made Monday.

A Pakistani spokesman in the capital at Rawalpindi reiterated claims made Wednesday that the last Indian soldier had been thrown out of Pakistan in the Lahore sector.

A Pakistani army spokesman said Pakistan troops then struck into India in the Ferozepore sector, 40 miles south of Lahore, and had driven "a lot of miles" into that northern part of Punjab state. There was no confirmation of this report in New Delhi.

As for the fighting in the Sialkot and Gwadra fronts, the Pakistani spokesman said: "The enemy has been effectively checkmated. The enemy is being fully contained and measures are underway to throw him out from here also."

In the light of today's combat reports in New Delhi, secondary importance was being given to Indian attacks across the international frontier in southern West Pakistan and in northern West Pakistan.

The Indian attacks in these two sectors were aimed respectively at Pakistan's important Arabian seaport of Karachi, which is also Pakistan's largest city, and the Sialkot-Rawalpindi population centre.

SPREAD OUT ARMY

It appeared, however, these attacks were designed to spread out Pakistan's 200,000-man army while India concentrated on fighting in the Lahore sector. Pakistani air strikes and paratroop drops since Monday indicated Pakistan also wanted to go on the offensive in this area.

The Indian defence ministry reported "fierce fighting" was in progress in the "Lahore sector," with the Pakistanis trying to "regain positions" they had lost to the Indian Army.

This area is perfect tank country and both India and Pakistan for years have stationed the greater part of their armor there. Air units capable of attacking from a small tropical distur-

Pakistan Leader Seen First

RAWALPINDI (Reuters)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan discussed the undeclared war between India and Pakistan at a 90-minute working lunch today.

No details of their talks were disclosed and no further meeting was arranged for today. Ayub's spokesman said there may be another meeting Friday morning.

Thant's immediate plans here were not made known, but it was thought he would discuss with his aides Pakistan's first reactions to the UN peace initiative.

The Associated Press quoted informed sources as saying the hostilities could be brought to an end if Thant assures the Pakistan government that the timetable will immediately be laid down to hold free elections in Kashmir.

Thant and the Pakistani leader met over lunch at Ayub's residence as fighting continued on a broad front east of Pakistan's Lahore area where India is making its biggest push on an estimated 50 to 60-mile front. Ayub welcomed Thant on the steps of his white-walled residence about four miles from the city of Rawalpindi and took him in to lunch.

Also taking part in the talks were Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto and Brian Urquhart, one of Thant's top aides.

Bhutto earlier met with Thant at the adjacent presidential guest house where Thant is staying during his visit here.

Thant left New York Tuesday night after the Security Council instructed him to make every effort to restore peace on the embattled sub-continent.

The secretary-general stopped off at Karachi, then flew on to Rawalpindi.

U.K. Slams Ban On Moving Arms

LONDON (UPI)—Britain may impose economic sanctions against India and Pakistan if they fail to heed the United Nations' call for a cease-fire, diplomatic sources said today.

INTERVENTION BY C'WLTH?

LUSAKA (Reuters)—President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia said today a move is afoot for a Commonwealth team to try to intervene in the war between India and Pakistan.

Britain slammed an embargo on arms shipments to India Wednesday. Officials said there were no current contracts for sending arms to Pakistan, which also is a member of the British Commonwealth.

The sources said the United Nations is expected to ask all its members to halt arms deliveries to India and Pakistan. The United States already has stopped military shipments to both countries.

The sources said Commonwealth leaders have stepped up their pressure for a joint peace initiative if UN Secretary General Thant fails in his current peace mission to New Delhi and Rawalpindi.

The British and U.S. move was designed to discourage both nations from continuing a war which diplomats fear could mushroom into a major conflagration in Asia that would benefit only Communist China.

Space Champs Tell World Of Watching Betsy Grow

SPACE CENTRE, Houston (UPI)—Space champions Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad today calmly recounted for the world how they performed "at least part" of every experiment assigned to them and watched the growth of hurricane Betsy despite mechanical problems that almost forced down the Gemini 5 flight.

Conrad proudly reported that they watched Betsy, now aiming toward the Texas-Louisiana gulf coast, develop from a small tropical disturbance off the east shoulder of South America into a storm that cut short their eight-day voyage by one 90-minute orbit.

"Lightning (from thunderstorms) was strong enough to light up the interior of the spacecraft," Conrad said. The craft was more than 100 miles up at the time, southeast of Betsy.

At the news conference which wound up their formal 11-day "debriefing" after the eight-day voyage, the 38-year-old Cooper said the liftoff from Cape Kennedy Aug. 21 was "very smooth ... positive."

Neither one of us felt there was any doubt" as the Titan-2 rocket and its capsule—109 feet overall—soared into the heavens Cooper said.

"The Gemini launch vehicle is a real Cadillac," he said.

"The entire trajectory was almost as perfect as any trajectory could be."

Conrad reported he was more nervous facing newsmen in the manned spacecraft centre's auditorium than when he was thundering into space.

"I think my heart rate's a lot higher here than it was at liftoff," he said.

Propaganda Machinery Oiled Up

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Most election activity here went into the backrooms Wednesday as party managers poured over campaign schedules and geared up their propaganda machines for the period leading to election day Nov. 8.

A few potshots were fired publicly.

Finance Minister Gordon, chairman of the Liberal campaign committee, said the need for strong government is the key issue. This required a majority in the Commons.

Progressive Conservative leader Diefenbaker replied that strong government was what the Liberals promised before taking office in 1963.

He forecast there will be a strong government but not a Liberal one.

Prime Minister Pearson held a 2½-hour cabinet meeting and later tentatively scheduled a press conference for Friday.

But he told reporters he won't discuss campaign issues until he formally launches his campaign.

That probably won't be until the week starting Sept. 19, he indicated. He is scheduled to speak at a high school convocation at Espanola, Ont., Sept. 17 and to be nominated next day in his Algoma East constituency.

Liberal strategists were considering placing heavy reliance on teams of touring cabinet ministers during the campaign.

Mr. Pearson, 68, expects in the beginning to divide his time between campaign speaking across the country and his duties as head of the government here.

The Conservative campaign committee was to meet Saturday to put finishing touches on strategy and work out Mr. Diefenbaker's speaking schedule. The Conservative leader is expected to do extensive whistle-stopping by train from coast to coast.

Meanwhile, Liberal premier Jean Lesage of Quebec said the provincial Liberal federation, which separated from the federal party a year ago, will decide Oct. 8-10 whether to participate.

Among the other opposition parties, the New Democrats were setting their sights on running a full slate of 265 candidates for the first time. They fielded 232 in 1963 and 218 in 1962.

Although election preparation moved into gear Tuesday night, the formal dissolution of Parliament was not completed until about 2:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

At that time the Great Seal was affixed to the proclamation dissolving Parliament which had been signed Tuesday night by Governor-General Vanier at Government House.

It was only a formality but it meant that MPs did not actually end their term in office until Wednesday. The Commons standing at the time was Liberals 127, Progressive Conservatives 92, New Democrats 18, Creditistes 13, Social Credit 9, Independents 2, vacant 4.

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle served notice today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must drop its integrated military command structure by 1969.

De Gaulle also told a press conference that France would halt its boycott of the European Common Market if a common farm policy is adopted.

He labelled groundless any speculation that France might act as a mediator in the Viet Nam conflict, but vaguely promised that she might be disposed to help if, at some future time, sound possibilities for settlement might arise.

As to his presidential candidacy in the Dec. 5 French election, the 74-year-old president said only:

NEGRO PUPILS 'CRASH' WHITE SCHOOL

BOSTON (UPI)—Negro children staged an "exodus" from their own schools today and grabbed empty seats in a predominantly white school.

About 400 children showed up at a civil rights headquarters on the opening day of public schools for transportation in donated buses, cars, and station wagons to white schools.

The children, under the guidance of parents and Negro leaders, were protesting alleged racial imbalance and overcrowding in schools in Negro sections of Boston.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Thousands of refugees streamed inland today from Louisiana's exposed coastal areas as hurricane Betsy, fresh from an attack on Florida, churned relentlessly closer.

The vanguard of 100,000 residents of south Louisiana and east Texas, packed cars and trailers and headed north—away from possible killer tides and 140-mile-an-hour winds.

The New Orleans weather bureau urged them to evacuate quickly before rising tides cut off escape by land.

At 11 a.m., Betsy was 185 miles south-southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River and moving west-northwest through the Gulf of Mexico at 18 miles an hour.

"Betsy is expected to continue moving about 18 miles per hour and turn to a northwesterly course today," a weather bureau advisory said. "Not much change in size or intensity is indicated."

An emergency civil defence centre began operating at Baton Rouge, its purpose to co-ordinate evacuation and emergency work.

Evacuation of Cameron parish—where 500 persons died in a 1957 hurricane—began at 10:30 a.m. Officials there said all residents would be gone by late afternoon.

Cattle from the marsh areas was being hauled out by truck. Black- and red-hurricane warning flags were flying from the mouth of the Mississippi River west to Galveston, Tex.

However, backtracking Betsy's exact target remained uncertain. The storm—described as fast moving, big and dangerous—has proved itself unpredictable.

The multi-billion-dollar offshore oil industry—4,800 oil wells and drilling platforms, some of them 100 miles from land—were evacuating and batten down.

MOVE EQUIPMENT

All possible equipment had headed for inland waters. About 3,000 oil workers had been moved to safety.

The last hurricane in the area—Hilda last September—left about $200,000,000 damage to offshore oil rigs.

At 9 a.m. the navy located the centre of Betsy 235 miles southeast of the mouth of the Mississippi River. She was moving west-northwest at 18 miles an hour, packing winds of 120 to 140 miles an hour.

The trickle of evacuees, soon to swell, started at Cameron, the little town in western Louisiana near the Texas border, where hurricane Audrey killed 500 persons in June, 1957.

Betsy left most of the Miami-Fort Lauderdale-Florida Keys area without power and with ruined crops, flooded homes.

No quick damage estimate was possible but it was expected to run to at least $100,000,000.

CITY SLICKER OFFICIALS INSPECT GOLD RIVER SITE

Wilderness Pulp Mill Opening Toasted

By JOHN MIKA

About 150 city slickers Wednesday were given an eye-opening view of modern life in the bush as the Tahsis Company Ltd. proudly celebrated official start of its $60 million Gold River pulp plant project.

Cabinet ministers praised the company's venture and helped with the ceremonies at the head of Mucalat Inlet, where Gold River empties, about 50 miles due west of burgeoning Campbell River community.

"Business-suited representatives of provincial and civic governments, forestry firms, contracting companies, transportation concerns, nearby Indian reserves, trade unions, commerce and the press mingled with hard-hatted construction workers at the ceremonies."

The guests were flown and bussed in from all parts of Vancouver Island and the lower mainland and for many it was the first visit to the rugged fjord-like area. In the background they saw unspoiled wilderness with eagles soaring over the tall trees, salmon leaping in the salt chuck, mists filling the narrow, deep gorges while bright sunlight bathed the bald mountain peaks nearby.

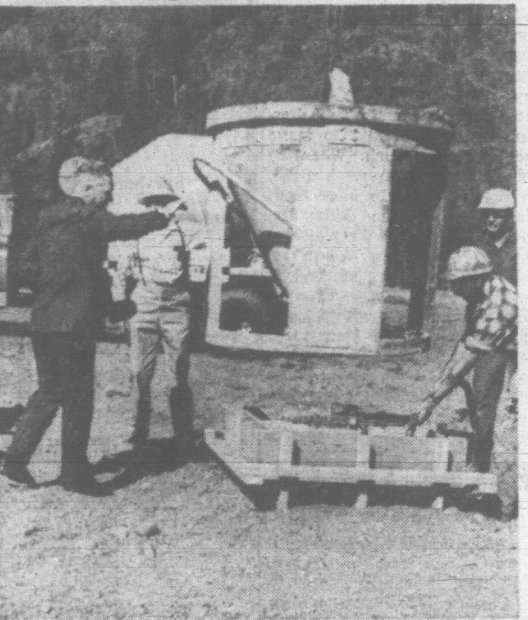

In the foreground, men guided huge pieces of machinery to fill the site of the 750-

ton capacity mill while others took coffee breaks in functional but bright, clean and pastel-painted commissaries and a large dining room.

Some distance away, the visitors toured the new, planned community of Gold River with its varied one and two-

MORE THAN 150 WATCHED this exchange Wednesday as Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell (left) handed over letters patent for the "instant municipality" of Gold River to Reeve Bruce Chisholm. The reeve handed back an engraved gavel set used at his council's first meeting as a memento for Mr. Campbell's office.

FIRST CONCRETE was poured for the Tahsis Company's new pulp plant on Vancouver Island's west coast by Forests Minister Ray Williston Wednesday. He did better than the last time he performed a ceremony in the area when he swung an axe—and cut a tendon. The new plant will be in production by 1967.

be in underground conduits along with the sewers and water mains that will serve 2,500 persons by next year.

Forests Minister Ray Williston made a bulls-eye drop when he guided a concrete bucket to pour the first cubic yard of cement for the new plant. Hard-hatted workmen and business-suited visitors mingled in the crowd that watched and applauded.

"This is a wonderful day for all interested in development of the west coast of Vancouver Island and also those interested, like myself, in full utilization of our forest resources," he told the onlookers.

"We have people from across Canada and across the seas joining our own people here to build one of the most modern plants in the world here on Mucalat Arm of this rugged coast."

"There are very few that have placed their money on the line and faced the future with such confidence as has this company, and I think this enterprise will prosper."

"I trust that this first ceremonial bucket of concrete will be followed by a steady stream until this plant is producing in 1967 the best quality of pulp available on the markets of the world," Mr. Williston said.

A short time later, and nine miles upstream on the Gold River, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, formally handed over the letters patent to Reeve Bruce Chisholm of the province's second "instant municipality."

"This may be the second such municipality but it still is unique because it is the first in Canada bringing together three concepts at the same time," he told the crowd.

He listed the three as: resources workers living with their families close to their work in the wilderness; governing their own community affairs through a civic council; and having a balanced residential, commercial and industrial tax base at the outset to share the costs of services.

Mr. Campbell, taking advantage of the presence of many high-ranking management representatives from various forest companies and other resource firms, made a strong pitch for more "instant municipalities" in newly-developing areas.

"The provincial government doesn't want to see the bunkhouse philosophy any more in this province," he said.

"Gold River will never be a company town. It will be a self-governing community."

"And I hope it will lead the way for other communities which still are on the drawing boards," he said.

After Mr. Campbell turned over the letters patent to Reeve Chisholm, and received in return an engraved gavel set which was used at the Gold River council's first meeting last week, the guests toured some of the first 44 houses of the new community.

Among the viewers was well-known Liberal M.L.A. Gordon Gibson who was among the first loggers to open up the Mucalat Arm area and helped organize the Tahsis Company before selling his interests.

"When I came here almost 30 years ago, the place was like a duck flat and we were up to our necks in water some of the time," he reminisced.

"But I could see this coming then," he said, waving at the new development. "And this is only the beginning. There's a greater future than ever out here for the young man with drive."

The guests departed after a hearty steak-and-salmon meal in the logging camp's dining room and those who flew could look down the long valley to wards Campbell River while beneath them a B.C. forest service crew busily worked on a new 60-mile-an-hour public road that will link the two communities.

ENUMERATION CHORE

Busiest Hiring Boss Is Returning Officer

Busiest man in Victoria today probably was federal returning officer Ray Bryant.

He has to hire almost 600 persons within 10 days and arrange for a person-to-person enumeration of more than 53,000 city voters by Sept. 25 for the Nov. 8 national election.

"I had 60 calls yesterday alone and we haven't even set up an office yet," he said this morning.

However, the Victoria returning office will be opened for business Friday noon in the former Mullins Marine salesroom at 845 Yates Street.

"There are 288 polling subdivisions in Victoria riding and we will have to hire a deputy returning officer and a clerk for each one as well as providing a ballot box," he said.

"In addition, we will have to take on a Liberal and a Conservative enumerator for each polling division and map out their work. Under the law, enumeration must commence by Sept. 20 and be completed by Sept. 25."

In a slightly better position is John S. Davies, returning officer for Esquimalt-Saanich riding.

He already has an office and staff operating at 2580 Maynard Street in the old St. George's Church hall at Cadboro Bay.

Meanwhile, Victoria Liberal Association president Kenneth Cox said that a nominating convention will be held in the War Amps' Hall on Oak Bay Avenue either Sept. 20 or 21. His Conservative opposite number D. H. Nelson could not be located for an indication of when the Progressive Conservative meeting would be held.

Merge Parks, Recreation Meeting Told

Municipal parks and recreation services should be combined into one operation, according to many parks and recreation officials meeting in conference at the Empress Hotel.

In Victoria the two departments are separate; in Vancouver they are combined as the Board of Parks and Public Recreation.

Stuart Lefaux, who is superintendent of the combined service, spoke of its advantages during a workshop discussion at the annual conference of the International Northwest Parks Association.

"Consolidation of the two services is now considered an important means of providing better service with the limited funds available," Mr. Lefaux said.

Also on the program is a demonstration by Hugo Spilker of the church's new organ. Organist David Palmer will give the recital.

$500 Gone In Cash, Cheques

Police were questioning three suspects this morning in connection with an overnight safe-cracking.

About $500 in cash and cheques was stolen from a safe in a break-in at Clarke & Cordick feed supply store at 2503 Douglas Street.

Charges had not been laid against the three men at press time.

Police said yeggs apparently dropped into the warehouse of the building through a skylight.

A heavy floor-safe was then moved from the general office, which was unlocked, to the warehouse where it was jammed open.

About $350 in cash and $150 in cheques were missing from the safe.

The thieves also ransacked the glove compartments of three trucks which were parked in the warehouse but nothing was stolen from them.

SAME COMPANY

Two years ago safecrackers operating in a similar manner stole about $1,600 from the safe of the same company.

In another break-in reported this morning thieves stole $40 in textbook rental money from a cash box in the office of Mount View Secondary School.

It is believed the thieves entered the school by forcing an outside door. The tin cash box was also pried open.

The school was also broken into about the same time last year and a quantity of money stolen.

Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes will stay on in the post for at least one more year.

The extension was announced Wednesday by Prime Minister Pearson in Ottawa when he revealed Gen. Pearkes had agreed.

The prime minister asked Gen. Pearkes to remain in the office during a luncheon meeting in Government House last month. The lieutenant-governor's term, by custom, was to run out Oct. 11, the fifth anniversary of his appointment.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Gold River doesn't offer much excitement, but it was served up in an entertaining way last week when the newly-appointed council held its first meeting. The meeting drew a large audience made up of loggers, construction men and residents.

It was all brand new. The meeting was not without its legislative blunders much to the enjoyment of the audience. It even evoked a remark from one in the audience: "Gee, it's just like little theatre."

What was worrying him was that the photographer had the passports, official passes and all the other documents needed for flitting around the globe.

Mr. Moss arrived 20 minutes before departure time, relaxed and unable to understand his partner's worry. They caught the jet. I spent a dime to watch them depart with just a little envy.

Headlined, The Unshakable, Stand of the Nun Who Loves Animals, the story is by Allen Spraggett, the Star's religion editor. It says: "Roman Catholic Bishop Remi De Roo has been waging his cold war with Mother Cecilia since April, trying to oust her and her six nun helpers from their sanctified zoo."

"We hope that some day we will be able to stay in this beautiful city for good."

He welcomed two distant visitors—Al and Martha Taylor of Johnson City, Tennessee—to the arena.

"When we met them at our recent crusade in Johnson City, they said they would follow us here. I never thought they would but—here they are!"

leaves during summer. This encourages these growths to form in fruiting spurs for future production.

In time, bushes will have some very old portions which may be removed if sufficient younger wood is present to carry the crop.

SIDE GROWTHS
The pruning of red and white currants can be briefly stated as the shortening of side growths to about three buds and the complete removal of oldest wood that is no longer well clothed with fruiting spurs.

Fertilizer applications and manure mulches are best left for spring, since it is not wise to force a lot of young shoots in fall, for they cannot become thoroughly ripened before frost. Better to give the bushes a boost when growth starts in spring.

Reds to Field 16 Candidates

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Communist party has announced that it will have 16 candidates in the Nov. 8 federal election.

Five will run in Ontario, four in British Columbia, two each in Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta and one in Manitoba.

In the 1963 federal election the party's 10 candidates all lost their $200 deposits, falling in each case to win half as many votes as the winning candidate.

Pruning consists of cutting out the older wood to soil level, or cutting back older wood to where a strong new growth has started.

But this type of pruning is not suited to red and white currants. These bear fruit on spurs coming from the older wood, and the old wood must be preserved in order to obtain a good crop.

The reds and whites may have the new side growths nipped back to three or four

WEATHER SYNOPSIS
Skies were mainly clear over the north coast and the interior of B.C. this morning but cloudiness and extensive layers of smoke persisted over much of the south coast.

A few showers were expected in the eastern interior this afternoon in the wake of a weak system that crossed that area Wednesday night. Cloudiness over the south coast will clear partially this afternoon and again Friday afternoon while an extensive area of high pressure remains offshore. Rising pressures in the interior of the province will produce mainly sunny skies in that area Friday.

of striking at armor have been built up behind the lines.
Since even before the time of Christ, invading armies have fought and struggled in this area. Alexander the Great and his Greek armies marched into India by this route, as did the Mogul armies who followed him.

LACK OF INFORMATION
Neither India nor Pakistan would give any precise information on where their armies were fighting.
But trickles of information in the last few days have indicated the Pakistani Air Force and paratroops are trying to cut roads, railways and lines of communications deep inside India's Punjab State, behind today's battleground.

This apparently is aimed at sealing off the area and preventing Indian reinforcements from reaching the area.
Radio Pakistan said Indian Air Force planes made drops twice during the night around Karachi. A Pakistani government spokesman said the Indians also dropped troops Wednesday night in the Sargodha area of West Pakistan, 174 miles southwest of Rawalpindi.

A Pakistani government spokesman said Indian paratroops landed Wednesday night in a Rawalpindi suburb and some were captured.
(Reuters news agency said a Pakistan spokesman today modified earlier official statements that a number of paratroops had been dropped by Indian planes in various parts of Pakistan.)

(The spokesman said in fact a number of "saboteurs" were known to have been dropped. He said most were rounded up with civilian aid.)
India also claimed Pakistani planes carried out bombing raids twice Wednesday night over Pathankot, a city in extreme northwest Punjab—near the new northern front opened by India. Damage was minor.

(Reuters quoted Indian officials in Chandigarh, the capital of Punjab state, as saying 81 Pakistani paratroops were rounded up in the state. A report from West Bengal said Pakistani artillery Wednesday night shelled the town of Gitaldaha in the Cooch Behar district on the border with East Pakistan. The report said Indian troops returned the fire and silenced the Pakistani guns.)

A dispatch from the eastern Indian metropolis of Calcutta said Pakistani paratroops were reported dropped Wednesday night near the new Asansol-Durgapur steel complex in India's West Bengal State. Other Pakistani troops were believed dropped near Durgapur, where a British-developed steel plant is located.

JODHPUR RAIDED
The Indian government radio said Pakistani planes raided Jodhpur twice during the night. Jodhpur is the chief road and railway centre behind the new southern front India opened Wednesday in the direction of Karachi.
The day's greatest victories were claimed for the Indian Air Force.
Indian jets hit one train carrying 23 Pakistani tanks and other vehicles in the Lahore sector and most were destroyed, an Indian spokesman claimed. He admitted that one of India's British-made Hunter jets was knocked down by the Pakistanis.

CITIES BLACKED OUT
All large cities in both Pakistan and India were under the threat of air raids and most were blacked out at night.
Indian Defence Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament India's action "is limited to make Pakistan realize that we will not tolerate any interference" with territorial integrity, including Kashmir.
He said he did not visualize any Indian action against East Pakistan "at the present moment."

Search Resumed For Hunter
PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — One of a party of three Burnaby hunters is missing and another survived 46 hours in the bush after their boat capsized as they ran the rapids of the swift McGregor River in remote hunting country east of this central interior city.
A ground-air search will resume today for Peter Van Dongen who ran the rapids in a 12-foot aluminum boat with Dave West while the third member of the party, Clarence McDonald, walked along the shore.
West, a former B.C. Lions football player and now a salesman, was found by a 12-man search party aided by aircraft Wednesday. He said after the boat capsized he and Van Dongen swam a mile downstream in the swift current. He made it to shore but the last he saw of Van Dongen he was still swimming in the swift water.
West said the three set out at noon Monday and after getting ashore West said he wandered around for 46 hours in the bush, apparently never more than a few miles from where he made it to shore.
He is in good condition and was taken to Sinclair Mills, 40 miles east of here, to rest.

Vatican Halts Loaning of Art
VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Never again will Vatican art treasures such as Michelangelo's "Pieta" be loaned, shipped or moved from the Vatican, church officials announced today.
The surprise announcement came at a time when the international loaning of great art and historical works — such as the original copy of the Magna Carta now touring the United States from England — was coming into fashion.

To Be Evacuated
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is preparing for the evacuation by air of Americans in the Lahore and Dacca areas of Pakistan, officials reported.

Canada Aids Jamaica
OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada is going to provide more than $1.6 million in development assistance to Jamaica under the external aid program. External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and Jamaican High Commissioner V. H. Macfarlane signed agreements today for the two loans of $925,000 and $700,000.

14 RESCUED FROM STORM-TOSSED SEA
NASSAU, The Bahamas (AP) — Bahamas islanders began cleaning up their hurricane-battered chain of resort isles today after an ordeal that included a dramatic rescue at sea.
Sailors of the British frigate Relentless picked up 11 men and three women from two lifeboats that tossed on hurricane Betsy's raging seas for 14 hours. They took to the boats when their small merchant craft sank en route Tuesday from South Calicos to Nassau.
Bahamas officials still were collecting information on damage in the out-islands. They estimated loss would reach $500,000 in Nassau alone.
No deaths were reported.
Betsy blacked out many homes and business places in Nassau when it knocked out the main power plant.
Hurricane debris littered Bay Street, waterfront shopping lane familiar to all tourists, but little serious damage was one to buildings there or elsewhere in the capital.
On Great Abaco, Island there was an unroofed hotel at Treasure Cay, one house smashed flat at Cherokee Sound settlement and two houses badly damaged at Wilson City.
He said crops on Eleuthera Island were severely damaged.

Black Currant Pruned Right After Picking
By JACK BEASTALL
Since apple and pear trees are pruned in February the month is generally alluded to as "pruning time" and the belief is widespread that all fruit pruning is done at that time of year.
In the home garden, where time can be occupied as the owner pleases, there is a certain amount of pruning that can, and should, be done at other times.
The edible black currant, for instance, is pruned as soon as the crop has been picked.
This currant needs lots of young growths for good cropping and is happiest when throwing up new shoots from below soil level every year. Since the majority of the fruit is borne on these new growths, the older wood can be dispensed with.
Pruning consists of cutting out the older wood to soil level, or cutting back older wood to where a strong new growth has started.
But this type of pruning is not suited to red and white currants. These bear fruit on spurs coming from the older wood, and the old wood must be preserved in order to obtain a good crop.
The reds and whites may have the new side growths nipped back to three or four

City Converting Estate to Cash

Assets of the McPherson bequest to Victoria and University of Victoria are being liquidated at an accelerated rate, Mayor R. B. Wilson said Wednesday.

"The city's share will be in cash long before the estate comes due," he said.

Latest figures show the value to Victoria to be $2,750,000, against which there is authorized $750,000 in borrowing.

Due date for the estate to become property of the city and university is December, 1967.

Viet Nam War 'Hot' Topic At Teach-In

TORONTO (CP)—Viet Cong and South Vietnamese political representatives will get a chance to argue in Toronto next month about the war in Viet Nam.

A debate will be part of a three-day teach-in Oct. 8 sponsored by the universities of Toronto and York on the attitudes of the great powers—the United States, China and the Soviet Union—towards national movements in the poorer countries.

While audiences at 20 Canadian and 150 United States campuses listen in by telephone hook-ups, a representative of Saigon's foreign minister Tran Van Do will argue with Dinh Ba Thi of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Invitations sent to China and the United States have not been answered yet.

However, Phuong Margain, secretary-general of the cabinet of Cambodia, has agreed to represent the position of non-aligned countries and Patrick Gordon Walker, former British foreign secretary, will be chairman.

Charles Hanly, a lecturer in philosophy at the University of Toronto and chairman of the teach-in committee, said Tuesday major political and intellectual figures from Latin America, Africa and the three great powers are expected to take part in five sessions.

Viet Voyage Scares Seamen

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Fear caused 16 crewmen of the Greek freighter Maritena P. to refuse to carry military cargo to Viet Nam, the ship's agents said Tuesday.

"They just didn't want to get shot at," said Jack Davies, operating manager of the International Shipping Co., of Seattle, who said he had talked to the men.

The Greek seamen balked last week at taking a load of small tanks, artillery, three and emergency provisions to Saigon.

The small amount that had been put aboard was removed on order of army headquarters in Washington, D.C. The American freighter Mormacrigel arrived here Monday to make the voyage. Loading was expected to take several more days.

Regional Park Authority Approved by City

Authority for Mayor R. B. Wilson to sign a petition to the provincial cabinet asking for establishment of a regional parks authority was given by Victoria city council Wednesday.

The petition is expected to be signed at a meeting of municipal representatives called for Monday morning by Recreation Minister Kiernan.

The second signatory will be Saanich and Oak Bay also was ready to participate.

He said the authority will establish a fourth class of parks in B.C.: national parks, provincial parks, municipal parks, and the new regional concept. The village council of Sidney made no allowance for such expenditure this year and would therefore remain out.

'Sky Patrol' Convicts Speeder

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Paul Stein, 22, of Sharon, Pa., made legal history in Ontario today when he was convicted of speeding under the Highway Traffic Act on evidence produced by a provincial police sky patrol.

Stein, who wasn't in court, was fined $25 after Constable Robert Gallant told how he followed a car for 30 miles on Highway 400 south of Barrie before it was stopped by a provincial police cruiser.

Drysdale Mulls Offer From Japan

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Don Drysdale, Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher, says he is mulling a rich offer to play baseball in Japan.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner, in a copyrighted story, says Drysdale has received an unprecedented $500,000 offer to sign a long-term contract to pitch for an unidentified team in Japan, starting next season.

Mighty Betsy Strikes Coast

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Gales preceding mighty hurricane Betsy struck the Louisiana-Mississippi coast tonight and the U.S. weather bureau issued an urgent warning to New Orleans, now directly in the 140-mile-an-hour monster's path.

At noon the 500-mile storm was about 200 miles south of Mobile, Ala., and had moved approximately 18 miles northwest, on a direct line toward New Orleans.

Betsy had been heading westward, and veered suddenly north-west.

Gales of 40 miles an hour or better lashed past Christian, Miss., and Boothville, La., on the Mississippi delta 60 miles west.

DE GAULLE WARNS

NATO Must Change Structure

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle served notice today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization must drop its integrated military command structure by 1969.

De Gaulle also told a press conference that France would halt its boycott of the European Common Market if a common farm policy is adopted.

He labelled groundless any speculation that France might act as a mediator in the Viet Nam conflict, but vaguely promised that she might be disposed to help if, at some future time, sound possibilities for settlement might arise.

As to his presidential candidacy in the Dec. 5 French election, the 74-year-old president said only:

"I promise you that you will certainly know (my intentions) within two months."

He roved over a list of questions posed to him as the conference began in Elysee Palace before more than 1,000 correspondents and officials.

He touched briefly on the French-West German co-operation treaty and declared that relations in many domains remained in "cordial virtuality" but were fruitful in other areas, such as culture and youth.

In discussing the NATO question, de Gaulle said:

"We will remain allies of our allies as long as we judge necessary the solidarity of the Western powers for the defence of Europe, but at the expiration of our (NATO) engagements, that is to say in 1969, will be the end of (France's) subordination to integration."

UN Chief Holds Talks With Khan

RAWALPINDI (Reuters)—United Nations Secretary-General U Thant and Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan discussed the undeclared war between India and Pakistan at a 90-minute working lunch today.

No details of their talks were disclosed and no further meeting was arranged for today. Ayub's spokesman said there may be another meeting Friday morning.

Thant's immediate plans here were not made known, but it was thought he would discuss with his aides Pakistan's first reactions to the UN peace initiative.

The Associated Press quoted informed sources as saying the hostilities could be brought to an end if Thant assures the Pakistan government that the timetable will immediately be laid down to hold free elections in Kashmir.

Thant and the Pakistani leader met over lunch at Ayub's residence as fighting continued on a broad front east of Pakistan's Lahore area where India is making its biggest push on an estimated 50 to 60-mile front.

Ayub welcomed Thant on the steps of his white-walled residence about four miles from the city of Rawalpindi and took him in to lunch.

Also taking part in the talks were Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto and Brian Urquhart, one of Thant's top aides.

Bhutto earlier met with Thant at the adjacent presidential guest house where Thant is staying during his visit here.

Thant left New York Tuesday night after the Security Council instructed him to make every effort to restore peace on the embattled sub-continent.

The secretary-general stopped off at Karachi, then flew on to Rawalpindi.

Fierce Fighting On New Fronts

By Associated Press

Indian and Pakistani troops fought heavy engagements on two new fronts in northern and southern Pakistan today.

India claimed 75 Pakistani tanks—all American-made—were destroyed in a 24-hour period.

In Rawalpindi, a Pakistani spokesman claimed both drives were stopped cold. But India said its forces were advancing on both fronts, in the Sialkot sector in the north and in the Gadhra area 600 miles to the south, in southeast Pakistan where it launched invasions Wednesday.

It was understood the toughest fighting was in the border regions of the north near the West Pakistan city of Kasur and India's city of Ferozepore in Punjab.

An Indian communique, reporting the claim that 114 Pakistani tanks had been destroyed since Sept. 1, spoke in general terms of the battles.

However, the tenor of the Indian defence ministry statement indicated India had gone on the offensive in the Lahore sector, 60 miles south of Sialkot where the first Indian crossings into Pakistan were made Monday.

A Pakistani spokesman in the capital at Rawalpindi reiterated claims made Wednesday that the last Indian soldier had been thrown out of Pakistan in the Lahore sector.

A Pakistani army spokesman said Pakistani troops then struck into India in the Ferozepore sector, 40 miles south of Lahore, and had driven "a lot of miles" into that northern part of Punjab state. There was no confirmation of this report in New Delhi.

As for the fighting in the Sialkot and Gadhra fronts, the Pakistani spokesman said: "The enemy has been effectively checkmated. The enemy is being fully contained and measures are underway to throw him out from here also."

In the light of today's combat reports in New Delhi, secondary importance was being given to Indian attacks across the international frontier in southern West Pakistan and in northern West Pakistan.

The Indian attacks in these two sectors were aimed respectively at Pakistan's important Arabian seaport of Karachi, which is also Pakistan's largest city, and the Sialkot-Rawalpindi population centre.

SPREAD OUT ARMY

It appeared, however, these attacks were designed to spread out Pakistan's 200,000-man army while India concentrated on fighting in the Lahore sector. Pakistani air strikes and paratroop drops since Monday indicated Pakistan also wanted to go on the offensive in this area.

The Indian defence ministry reported "fierce fighting" was in progress in the "Lahore sector," with the Pakistanis trying to "regain positions" they had lost to the Indian Army.

This area is perfect tank country and both India and Pakistan for years have stationed the greater part of their armor there. Air units capable

U.K. Slams Ban On Moving Arms

LONDON (UPI)—Britain may impose economic sanctions against India and Pakistan if they fail to heed the United Nations' call for a cease-fire, diplomatic sources said today.

INTERVENTION BY C'WLTH?

LUSAKA (Reuters)—President Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia said today a move is afoot for a Commonwealth team to try to intervene in the war between India and Pakistan.

Kaunda told correspondents at his regular press conference that Zambia, formerly Northern Rhodesia, has already suggested five Commonwealth countries be appointed to serve on the team.

The sources said the possibility of economic sanctions is being studied in close consultation with the United States as part of wider contingency plans if the fighting over Kashmir continues.

Britain slammed an embargo on arms shipments to India Wednesday. Officials said there were no current contracts for sending arms to Pakistan, which also is a member of the British Commonwealth.

The sources said the United Nations is expected to ask all its members to halt arms deliveries to India and Pakistan. The United States already has stopped military shipments to both countries.

The sources said Commonwealth leaders have stepped up their pressure for a joint peace initiative if UN Secretary-General Thant fails in his current peace mission to New Delhi and Rawalpindi.

The British and U.S. move was designed to discourage both nations from continuing a war which diplomats fear could mushroom into a major conflagration in Asia that would benefit only Communist China.

Pakistan Sets Chou Support

TOKYO (AP)—China's Premier Chou En-lai today condemned "India's massive armed attack on Pakistan" and said it could not have been done without the consent and support of the United States.

Chou again declared China's firm support for Pakistan and warned "the Indian government that it must bear full responsibility for all the consequences arising from its aggression."

Chou, however, stopped short of saying China would provide any form of concrete assistance to Pakistan.

Propaganda Machinery Oiled Up

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Most election activity here went into the backrooms Wednesday as party managers poured over campaign schedules and geared up their propaganda machines for the period leading to election day Nov. 8.

A few potshots were fired publicly.

Finance Minister Gordon, chairman of the Liberal campaign committee, said the need for strong government is the key issue. This required a majority in the Commons.

Progressive Conservative Leader Diefenbaker replied that strong government was what the Liberals promised before taking office in 1963.

He forecast there will be a strong government but not a Liberal one.

Prime Minister Pearson held a 2½-hour cabinet meeting and later tentatively scheduled a press conference for Friday. But he told reporters he won't discuss campaign issues until he formally launches his campaign.

That probably won't be until the week starting Sept. 19, he indicated. He is scheduled to speak at a high school convocation at Espanola, Ont., Sept. 17 and to be nominated next

Abolish BBG Report Urges

OTTAWA (UPI)—A federally-appointed special commission today assailed both public and private broadcasting in Canada for being too loaded with American content and recommended sweeping changes in public control of both sectors of the industry.

In a hard-hitting report, the long-awaited Fowler committee report urged, in its major recommendation, setting up of a new all-powerful "control agency" to better patrol the country's broadcasting industry.

The new governing body, to be known as the Canadian Broadcasting Authority would have virtually unlimited powers and would replace the present Board of Broadcast Governors. The committee said the BBG has lost control over the CBC.

The committee said the government-owned CBC did a better broadcasting job than the privately-owned Canadian television network.

But even the CBC was "increasingly dominated by the worst in American programming," the report said.

DOMINATED

Other major recommendations:

- Revisions to the broadcasting act and a government white paper detailing once and for all the roles and responsibilities of both public and private radio and television.

- A new two-part radio and TV licensing system, enforcing quality, Canadian content and public service time on each Canadian station, with penalties for infractions.

- Reservation of all television time before noon for scholastic broadcasting with direct participation by private and public stations, paid for by government.

- "All means" be taken to ensure both public and private mediums, promote national unity and explain Canada's two main races to each other.

SWEEPING CHANGES

- Sweeping changes in the makeup and financial structure of the CBC, even to shifting its headquarters from Ottawa to Montreal or Toronto where executives could be exposed to the "Canadian reality."

- A slicing of $3.5 million from a five-year forecast of expenditures projected by the CBC.

- A hold-down on the introduction of color television until all areas of Canada had black and white TV, although admitted.

NEGRO PUPILS 'CRASH' WHITE SCHOOL

BOSTON (UPI)—Negro children staged an "exodus" from their own schools today and grabbed empty seats in predominantly white schools.

About 400 children showed up at a civil rights headquarters on the opening day of public schools for transportation in donated buses, cars and station wagons to white schools.

The children, under the guidance of parents and Negro leaders, were protesting alleged racial imbalance and overcrowding in schools in Negro sections of Boston.

Space Twins Watched Storm Grow

SPACE CENTRE, Houston (UPI)—Space champions Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad today calmly recounted for the world how they performed "at least part" of every experiment assigned to them and watched, the growth of hurricane Betsy despite mechanical problems that almost forced down the Gemini flight.

Conrad proudly reported that they watched Betsy, now aiming toward the Texas-Louisiana gulf coast, develop from a small tropical disturbance off the east shoulder of South America into a storm that cut short their eight-day voyage by one 90-minute orbit.

"Lightning (from thunder storms) was strong enough to light up the interior of the spacecraft," Conrad said. The

ISLAND ROUNDUP

Ladysmith Beach Closer

LADYSMITH—An announcement was to be made this afternoon by Mayor Kathleen Grouhel that Pacific Logging Ltd. has granted the city a lease on 15 acres of Transfer Beach.

Negotiations were concluded Tuesday but signing of the lease was delayed until this afternoon when Pacific Logging president William Sloan was to return to the Island from Vancouver.

The 15-acre lease would supply the public beach access council has been after for the past year.

City clerk John Runciman said this morning slower progress was being made with Canadian Colliers regarding a similar lease of 15 adjoining acres.

He said: "There has not been a ready contact between us, and our solicitor has been trying to set up a meeting."

Crown Zellerbach Ltd. has indicated willingness to trade seven acres on Transfer Beach for 10 acres of city land already leased to them.

NANAIMO—Jon Correns, 44, of Harper Road, Lantzville, was given a three-month jail sentence for impaired driving by magistrate Stan Wadill Wednesday.

Correns, who had pleaded not guilty, announced he would appeal the sentence. He was released on $500 bail.

 craft was more than 100 miles up at the time, southeast of Betsy.

At the news conference which wound up their formal 11-day "debriefing" after the eight-day voyage, the 38-year-old Cooper said the lift-off from Cape Kennedy Aug. 21 was "very smooth... positive."

"Neither one of us felt there was any doubt" as the Titan-2 rocket and its capsule—109 feet overall—soared into the heavens Cooper said.

"The Gemini launch vehicle is a real cadillac," he said.

"The entire trajectory was almost as perfect as any trajectory could be."

Conrad reported he was more nervous facing newsmen in the manned spacecraft centre's auditorium than when he was thundering into space.

"I think my heart rate's a lot higher here than it was at lift-off," he said.
